Pamphlets Call for Second Strike To Protest Stern Racial Policies

Johannesburg, South Africa — South Africa's government braced today to meet the threat of another crippling Negro work boycott protesting the white regime's stern racial policies.

Police kicked off a new series of raids against "inciters and agitators," rounding up 100 persons in the African settlement of Orlando, on the outskirts of Johannesburg.

The outlawed African national congress' emergency committee circulated pamphlets through Orlando and other Johannesburg Negro settlements yesterday calling for a one-week work boycott beginning Monday.

Police Protection
Deputy police commissioner C. J. Lemmer warned that "the hundreds of thousands of law-abiding Africans must not stay away from work."

"They must ignore the pamphlets if they have received them. They must not allow themselves to be intimidated," Lemmer declared, adding that "police will be on duty in full force and will be able to provide all the protection needed."

The minister of African education, C. W. Maree, warned Negro teachers and pupils to show up for school next week. Otherwise, he threatened, "the department may have to consider the permanent closing down of such (Negro) schools."

The government of wounded Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd clearly planned to take all necessary measures to prevent a repetition of the no-

Harmony Prevails In Western Camp

Allies Agree on Issues but Lack Spectacular Summit Approach

Washington — The stage was set today for western unity on basic issues at the outset of next month's summit meeting with the Russians.

But the western camp lacked any spectacular new idea with which to seize the bargaining initiative from Russia's agile Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The three days of foreign ministers talks which ended yesterday completed the major homework on strategy for the summit gathering starting in Paris May 16. That meeting will bring together President Eisenhower, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, French President Charles de Gaulle and Khrushchev.

Dog's Not Drunk; His Shoes Hurt

Toronto — Two Toronto humane society inspectors have discovered that a dog's life can include a champagne diet and a $400 wardrobe. They don't approve.

Acting on a complaint that Felsen Fest Pisces, a limpid-eyed, 13-month-old white poodle, was seen staggering on his daily walk, the investigators visited the home of his wealthy lady owner, yesterday.

Pisces was clad in one of his 15 suits and a bow tie. He had just come out of his daily Turkish bath.

The society's general manager, George Hulme, said the owner, whom he declined to identify, is being informed that the society is displeased at the dog's liquid diet and daily heat bath.

"There's certainly no cruelty involved," he said. "We just think it's poor dog management."

The inspectors were somewhat envious of Pisces' wardrobe. Besides 15 suits it includes bow ties, 6 sets of pajamas, 4 sets of shoes (four to a set), a raincoat and a couple of tiara-like headpieces set with rhinestones.

As for being drunk, Pisces' maid, Marion Zahn, was adamant.

"Pisces is never drunk," she said. "His shoes make him walk funny."

Disciples Gasp As Jesus Stands In Their Midst

The disciples gasped. The Lord Jesus stood in their midst. "Peace be unto you," He said warmly. "Go ye therefore, and teach all nations." It was true — He had risen from the dead and returned to "The Hallowed House." On page A-16 is the final story of this year's Easter series.

French Police Push Search After Kidnapers Free Child

"... They parted my tament among them, and for my vesture they did cast lots..."

— John 19:24

Auto Magnate's Kin Safe; Label as Hoax Report That Abductors Were Captured

Paris — French police today intensified a nationwide manhunt for the kidnapers of Eric Peugeot and labeled a hoax one published report that the abductors had been captured.

Four-year-old Eric was home safe and sound, though "still upset." His abductors freed him on a Paris sidewalk early today — presumably after payment of ransom.

The French news agency flashed a report that the kidnapers had been captured and even gave the names of two men and a woman. Later, however, the agency said it had been "taken in by false information."

Eric was questioned by inspectors this afternoon after a good sleep but indications were that the boy was unable to furnish much information.

Two Arrested
Earlier, another report that the kidnapers had been found swept through Paris after a police roadblock near Senlis, just north of Paris, opened fire on a speeding car. The car was a black sedan like the one used in the kidnapping.

The car's tires were punctured and it stopped by the side of the road. Two young men clambered out and were arrested. Police at Senlis said the two youths apparently had no connection with the Peugeot kidnapping but an in-

Pope Leads Holy Rites

Services Mark Christ's Death, Suffering on Cross

Rome — Pope John XXIII walked in his stocking feet today in a Good Friday service commemorating Christ's suffering and death on the cross.

The 78-year-old supreme pontiff of the Roman Catholic church led the solemn ritual in Rome's Basilica of St. Mary Major, where more than a score of cardinals, numerous archbishops and bishops and thousands of others — including pilgrims from many lands — had assembled.

Central part of the ceremony was adoration of the cross, a ritual that was being observed in many of Rome's nearly 500 churches and thousands of Roman Catholic churches throughout the world.

For this part of the ceremony, the pope removed his shoes. So did the cardinals. On this one day of the year, the pontiff and cardinals, in sign of mourning, did not wear their episcopal rings.

Pope John approached the cross, covered as were other images in the church with lenten purple cloths of mourning. Part of the covering was turned aside to expose the feet of the image of the crucified Christ. The pontiff genuflected three times in approaching the cross. Then he knelt and kissed it.

Help From a Stranger

Athens, Greece — A little Greek boy, his life in danger, appealed to a stranger in America for help.

He's going to get it.

Four-year-old Stella K. Parnopoulos left here today on a flight to New York for a rare heart operation which holds hope for his future.

It all started with a pathetic question from little Stella:

"Do you think that the heart of a child has to stop because his father has no money to pay for an operation?"

His plight was described in a letter handwritten in faltering English to John O. B. Wallace, an Associated Press writer in New York whose own health had been restored by delicate heart surgery.

"I write to you by the hand of my doctor, the hand that brought me into the world," the small boy said. "It is from my doctor that I have heard about your heart operation."

West Germany's Army Chief Dies

Bonn, Germany — Lt. Gen. Hans Roettiger, chief of staff of the West German army, died today after a brief illness. He was 64.

Roettiger, a veteran of both world wars, became the army's ranking officer June 1, 1957, after working for a decade in the postwar period as an insurance salesman and businessman.

Services Throughout Country

Worshippers Will Greet Sunrise Easter Morning

By The Associated Press
The resurrection of Christ, the most glorious of all Christian holidays, will be celebrated Easter Sunday with prayer and song, and storm, from mountain top and valley and from coast to coast.

The most spectacular services are planned for out-of-door arenas. But millions of Americans will celebrate the holy day to the ring of psalms and the tang of incense in the privacy of their churches.

Before and after religious services, traditional Easter parades will give worshippers a chance to display spring finery. The greatest of these is New York's annual Fifth Avenue parade, when tens of thousands turn the normally busy artery into a mall. Police headquarters has ordered advertising and other commercial features barred from the parade.

In Appleton, two joint Easter sunrise services are scheduled, and most Fox Cities churches will conduct early masses or services individually. Special Easter music is featured in all churches.

High school age members of churches in the Appleton Council of Churches will conduct a youth service at 6:30 a.m. at First Congregational church.

(A joint service will be held at 6 a.m. at Christian and Missionary Alliance church. Participating churches are Wesleyan Methodist, First Assembly of God, the Church of the Nazarene and Appleton Bible chapel. The Miltonvale Wesleyan college choir will search foundation for rest and more treatment.

Girl Who Met Pope Returns to Hospital

Oklahoma City — A little girl whose wish to meet Pope John XXIII was granted is back home today in a hospital.

Eight-year-old Catherine Hudson has leukemia, a usually fatal blood disease. She returned last night with her mother, Mrs. Marlene Hudson, on a flight from New York. Tired and complaining of a headache, she was taken to the Oklahoma medical research foundation for rest and more treatment.

On the west coast, Yosemite National park in California boasts the latest Easter service in all the 50 states. The sun does not pierce the shadow of Half Dome mountain to bring dawn to Mirror Lake until 9:15 a.m. A college of the Pacific choir will greet this belated sunrise from a spit of land on the shore of the lake.

Worshippers in San Francisco will climb the city's highest hill for services at the foot of a giant cross atop Mt. Davidson.

Elsewhere in California,

Vivienne Della Chiesa will be guest soloist at the 40th annual sunrise service expected to draw 20,000 to the Hollywood bowl. Other major observances will be held at the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Mt. Helix near San Diego, and on

Rockefeller May be Edging Back in Race

Schedules Series Of Speeches; Won't Rule Out Draft

Washington — Nelson Rockefeller, who ruled himself out of the race for the Republican presidential nomination last December, is showing distinct signs of edging back in.

Item: Next week he'll start a series of out-of-state tours, speaking for Republican candidates and displaying his smiling personality again among Republican politicians in many parts of the country.

Item: He still refuses to endorse Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the GOP nomination. Asked Thursday if he had any doubt Nixon would be nominated, he replied "I don't want to discuss it."

What About Draft
Item: He has not ruled out a convention draft. He says he doesn't expect one, but will "cross that bridge, if it comes."

The kind of straw in the wind that cheers Rockefeller's ardent admirers came yesterday from Denver, when the Post said editorially Rockefeller appears to be "the most attractive Republican candidate that could be offered."

Nixon's own lie-low-until-after the convention policy, in the meantime, got a nod from senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois. Said Dirksen, "I think his present technique is pretty good."

West Virginia's Republican Gov. Cecil H. Underwood said in New York that while Rockefeller would make "a very strong candidate" right now Mr. Nixon is the strongest candidate we have.

He added that the state's GOP organization supports the vice president and "I do not foresee any change in the national picture."

Laird Proposes Extending Tribe Termination Date

Washington — Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., proposed today that government guardianship of the Menominee Indians in Wisconsin be continued beyond the scheduled termination date of Dec. 31, 1960.

"It is my firm opinion that chaotic conditions would arise if termination takes place as now contemplated," Laird said.

Nature's Serving Fishing Weather

Wisconsin — Showers spreading eastward and south tonight. Ending over north and northwest tonight. Cooler air to follow showers. Temperature to stay above normal, however. Outlook for Sunday: Fair to partly cloudy and mild.

Appleton — Temperature for the 24-hour period ending at 9 a.m. today: High 69, low 39. Temperature at 10 a.m. today 64. Barometer reading 29.98 inches, with wind southeast at seven miles an hour. Fog early this morning. Sun sets at 6:37 p.m., rises Saturday at 5:09 a.m.; moon rises at 11:12 p.m.

Expect 200 Negroes at Weekend Parley

Probably Will Plan Further Action Concerning Sitdowns, Selective Buying in South

—More than 200 Negro college students from various states are expected in Raleigh, N. C., today to take part in the lunch counter sitdown demonstration.

Students may recommend that Negroes begin a campaign of selective buying from approved merchants throughout the South.

Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr., Atlanta pastor who led the successful Negro bus boycott in Montgomery, Ala., will be in Raleigh, N. C., today to advise the students.
The Easter weekend
sitdowns are scheduled for Saturday night.

The South Carolina advisory commission on civil rights received notarified statements from 13 young Negroes describing how tear gas and fire hoses were used to break up a demonstration at Orangeburg.

Some of the young people claimed they needed medical attention after the incident last month, which resulted in the arrests of 388 Negroes on charges of breach of the peace.

Advisory Group
The biracial advisory group agreed to send the statements to the federal civil rights commission in Washington.

John A. Hannah, chairman of the civil rights commission and president of Michigan State university, told an NAACP campus chapter meeting at East Lansing that northern sympathy demonstrations are "a little unfair" and may cost Negroes rights in their drive for equal rights.

Two Negro women staged the first sit-in at Columbia, in middle Tennessee, walking into a variety store in an unsuccessful attempt to obtain service. The counter shut down, Columbia is about 40 miles south of Nashville, scene of several sitdown demonstrations.

Former Officer Continues to Elude Castro

Army Thrown Into Field to Capture Guerrilla Band

Las Mercedes, Cuba —
An insurgent former officer of Fidel Castro's army today
ernment mountain troops in a chase over the soggy pinnacles of east Cuba's Sierra Maestra.

The bearded prime minister is directing operations in the ninth day of an intensive manhunt for ex-Capt. Manuel Beaton and his band of armed guerrillas, believed to number about 50 men. Fidel's brother Raul, the armed forces chief, and other top commanders also are in the field.

Official Silence
A cloak of official silence hung over the military movements in the densely forested Sierra Maestra along Cuba's southeast coast.

The only official word late Thursday night was that Beaton had not been caught.
(There were unconfirmed reports in Havana that 1,000 regulars of Castro's army had ranged 8,500-foot Pico Turquino — Cuba's highest mountain — in the belief they had trapped the bulk of the rebels. Official sources refused to comment on this and another report of fighting in the area of Palma Soriano, along the eastern fringe of the Sierra Maestra, in which it was said 12 government soldiers were killed.)

Other Reports
Cuban newsmen reported they saw Castro in the hills but he ordered them to get out.
From other sources in the general area of this tiny village at the foothills of the Sierra this much was learned:
Castro has thrown thousands of men into the drive from three directions—east, north and west — on Bea-ton's suspected center of operations.

Claims Newly Elected Mayor Is Ineligible

Bloomer — City Atty.
Lyle Dowling said Thursday
he will advise the city council to declare Norman Ludwison ineligible to serve as mayor despite his victory in last Tuesday's election.

Ludwison, a write-in candidate, polled 630 votes to 583
for the incumbent mayor, John O. Johnson.

Ludwison served a prison term 30 years ago for breaking and entering. Denied the right to have his name placed on the ballot as a candidate for mayor, Ludwison petitioned Gov. Gaylord Nelson for a pardon and was granted
one. Election officials still refused to accept his nomination papers.

The city attorney said his recommendation to the city council, which meets April 19, is based on an article of the state constitution. The section states that no person convicted of any infamous crime in any court within the United States shall be eligible to an office of trust, profit or honor in this state.

Pope John XXIII Holds a Cloth to dry the foot of a Negro student priest after washing it in a Holy Thursday ceremony at Rome's basilica of St. John Lateran. The pontiff washed and kissed the feet of 13 student priests in a ceremony commemorating Christ's washing of the feet of His apostles. Among the 13 were African Negroes, a Japanese, West Indians and a Polynesian. The Vatican said Pope John chose this means of rebuking racial intolerance.

Doctor's Memory Pulls Dog, Cat Food Youth Through Surgery Checked Better Than Drugs

Remembers Article by Russians on Heart Operation in Medical Journal

Passaic, N. J. — John Buma knew when he pleaded to have his heart operated on the chances of his survival were long. But he didn't know how long they really were.

It took a surgeon with a long memory and two Russian doctors half a world away to pull him through.

When Dr. Dryden Morse of Merchantville cut open the 17-year-old Paterson boy's heart last month, he found the trouble to be even worse than expected. Stunned, with the boy lying at death's edge on the operating table, Morse recalled an article he had read about a rare operation Russian doctors had performed on dogs and a few humans.

Former Appleton Man Resigns Democratic Post

Lancaster — Norman M.
Clapp of Lancaster, formerly of Appleton, has submitted his resignation of the Wisconsin Democratic party, indicating he was considering again making the race for congress from the 3rd district.

In a letter to the party executive committee, Clapp said,
"The time has come for me to step down in order to give attention to my personal affairs and plans for the future." The letter was made public today.

Clapp added that he planned to go to Washington soon to confer with Democratic officials about the 3rd District race. Campaigning as a Democrat in 1956 and 1958, Clapp was defeated by Republican Rep. Gardner Withrow of La Crosse, who has announced he will not seek reelection.

Former Gov. Vernon Thomson has announced he will campaign for the Republican nomination for the office.

Olson Says Democrats
Do Not Want Report Of Tax Committee

Alma Center — Jack Olson of Wisconsin Dells, campaigning for the Republican nomination for governor, said at Alma Center Thursday night that "Gov. Gaylord Nelson's administration does not want a report from Wisconsin's top tax committee."

"Actually the Democratic administration does not want the report because it is apt to make recommendations the Democratic hierarchy won't want to accept," Olson said at a Jackson county GOP caucus.

Olson said the governor appears to favor stopgap tax measures, postponing action on a citizens committee report until later.

Successful Firing Of Underwater Missile Hailed by Officials

Polaris Climbs From 100 Feet
Below Surface in Test Shot

San Clemente Island, Calif. — A navy Polaris missile today was a step closer to operational use aboard an atomic submarine after a successful test launching from 100 feet below the ocean surface.

The 28-foot bottle-shaped missile, like a bright yellow whale, broke through the choppy Pacific Thursday and zoomed up to 1,800 feet despite a stiff, 25-knot wind.

Then, its five seconds of solid fuel expended, the missile arched gracefully back to a splash landing in the sea near this wind-swept island off southern California.

Ball Launching
The navy hailed this first underwater launch as a giant step toward the day when submarines can fire atomic-armed missiles from beneath the sea at any potential enemy.

A high ranking navy official in Sacramento described the U.S. missile-submarine program, meanwhile, as five to six years ahead of the Russians.

Rear Adm. William F. Ra-born, director of special projects for the bureau of naval weapons, said the navy plans to build 45 missile-launching subs. These, he told, a dedication of a new rocket fuel installation, "would be as nearly invulnerable as any weapon that could be imagined."

The 15-ton missile was blown from the launching tube on the ocean floor to the surface by compressed air.
It was the 67th launching from the underwater tube but the first with a real Polaris.

Makes Statement
At Senate Hearing

Washington — A doctor testified today the government inspects some dog and cat foods more closely than it inspects medicines prescribed for ailing humanity.

Dr. Solomon Garb, of the teaching staff of Albany (N.
Y.) medical college, called the situation incongruous but true. He suggested that congress provide for "continuing government inspection of drugs rather than periodic checks of their purity and potency."

His testimony was prepared for the senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee's drug hearings.

No Steady Inspector
This is the last day of scheduled hearings in the current phase of the subcommittee's long investigation of alleged profiteering, monopoly practices and other abuses in the prescription drug manufacturing industry.

Dr. Garb said some brands of cat and dog food are produced "under continuous government inspection" by government inspectors stationed in the plants.

"By contrast," he said, "a College Requirements

In the flood of criticism leveled at education in the last few years, the institutions for teacher training have received a good share. In Wisconsin, the relatively low standards for admission sometimes combined with an overemphasis upon education credits were cause for complaint. Now the Wisconsin State colleges have announced a policy of admission and retention of students that is to be applied in all nine of the colleges. We could wish that the regents and presidents had tightened things up a little more but the move is in the right direction. The state colleges still will accept students in the upper three-fourths of their high school graduating classes, an amazingly wide area and one that has led to the charge that the state colleges get a lot of students who are turned down everywhere else. The recommendation of the high school principal is required, however, and sixteen credits must be offered with nine of them in the fields of English, social sciences and history, mathematics, foreign languages, and natural sciences. Three years of high school English is "recommended." Arguments against requiring the English seem to stem from the irrelevant insistence that all applicants have it anyway. It is in transfer and retention of students that the most strides have been made. Students declared ineligible to return to their own colleges may not be accepted until the lapse of at least one semester. Two semesters on probation means dismissal and a student so discharged may not hop into another state college without waiting at least a semester. If standards within classes are being boosted, and many of the state college faculty members indicate that they

California a Pioneer

The California legislature has adopted an anti-smog bill which requires exhaust devices to be attached to all automobiles in California some time in the future. The measure was adopted in both houses by an overwhelming vote and as it had been enthusiastically supported by Gov. Brown it is practically certain to become a law. It provides for a 13-member motor vehicle pollution control board with authority to test exhaust control devices and certify their effectiveness. There are said to be at least 20 such devices and the California board will be required to certify at least two. It is hoped that California will be free of smog in about six years. If the California board finds a suitable device, all new cars sold within a year after the device is certified will be required to have the anti-smog device. Likewise, all used cars sold after the first year will be so equipped and within two years anti-smog equipment will be required on all commercial vehicles. Within three years all vehicles will be required to have the anti-smog device. County boards may grant exemptions for cars used in counties where smog is not a problem. It is estimated that

Who Owns the Tidelands?

The ownership of inundated lands appears to be a troublesome matter everywhere. In Hackensack, N. J., Superior Court Judge J. Wallace Leyden has ruled that the state owns all tidelands inundated at main high tide. Main high tide is the average high water mark at high tide over a long period of time. The town of East Rutherford came into possession of the lands in question through a tax deed. It had assessed the lands from 1920 to 1941 and in 1943 it sold the land for back taxes. It purchased the tax certificate itself and foreclosed on the land. In 1953 it sold the property to two men in partnership. Then the state highway came along and built a road across their 152 acre tract. When the partners sought to collect from the highway department the state claimed the state owned the land all the time and re-

Humor of Columnists

BY HARRY GOLDEN

The boss at my newspaper syndicate says, "Put more humor in your columns. Humor is what we want. Write another 'Golden Vertical Plan for Integration.' I would like to oblige. But writing humor is not only the loneliest, but the hardest business in the world. There's an old saw to the effect that you can fool the whole town with tragedy but comedy's a serious business. I remember visiting the home of a world-famous comedian, a man famed for his ability to rattle on at a quip-a-minute clip. In his study, he had huge files, labeled "Mother-in-law," "Wise cracks," "Racial jokes," "Funny anecdotes." He had written down on a 3 by 5 index card every joke, bon mot, and punch line he'd are, it is obvious that the inept or unambitious soon will be weeded out. Traditionally in Wisconsin, and most mid-western states, there has been a policy that any graduate of a state high school should be eligible to enter a state college or university. There is some basis beyond a vague belief in equal ability for this policy. The slow learner or developer, the youngster who doesn't take school seriously until he is about eighteen, the average student from an uninterested family all tend to profit. But unfortunately it also is true that a large percentage of mediocre students in a class tends to pull down the quality of the class no matter how hard the teacher works. Colleges which continue to take all comers must labor under a severe handicap in attempting to keep scholastic standards high. Some of the state college authorities shy away from the charges of state high schools that the courses are being dictated. But there are some secondary schools in Wisconsin without a foreign language, some with a minimum offering in mathematics, natural sciences and with watered down English courses. Certainly it is within the authority of the state colleges to require as well as recommend certain courses of study for admission. And state college faculty members should not be alarmed about a high percentage of flunk-outs particularly in the first two years. It may be in keeping with tradition and even overall sound educational theory to permit almost any high school graduate with a good course of study to enter college, but it does not follow that he must be awarded a diploma particularly when a great deal of the cost is paid by the general public.

the anti-smog devices can be installed for about $50 per unit and since all cars going to California in the future will be factory equipped with such devices it will be but a short time until the motor vehicle contribution to California's smog will be a thing of the past. California is first in its field because of the geography of Los Angeles county. Since the county is hemmed in by mountains on three sides there have been frequent periods when the city suffers from smog. Fog coming down from the mountains prevents the escape of smoke and gas and thus creates a condition which is both uncomfortable and dangerous to health. Other cities have the same problem although it is not so pronounced. Nevertheless, the exhausts from motor cars in all large cities contribute to the discomfort of the people and are recognized as a health hazard. The situation is almost certain to grow worse in the future unless something is done about it. Los Angeles has taken the first step and no doubt the experience there soon will be used by other cities to eliminate this danger. It probably will not be many years before all motor vehicles will be equipped with anti-smog devices.

fused to pay for it. This contention now has been supported by the court and the partners have said they will appeal the case to a higher court. A great many people are interested in the case. While it was tested on a small tract, many thousands of acres of land along the coast will be affected by the decision. For example, in the one county communities will lose about $13,500,000 in assessed valuation because towns no longer will be able to assess the tidelands. It is interesting that this case is being tried on the east coast where the first settlements were made. The tidelands always have been there and men have been using them for over 300 years. Still they are stumped as to who owns the land when it is inundated and when it is covered regularly by tides.

Trouble With Names? Consider Case of Poor Russian Parents

From The San Diego Union There must be an easier way to name children than that chosen by the Russians. Lev. Uspenski, a writer for a Soviet literary magazine, even has had the temerity to suggest his countrymen give their offspring the good old Russian names instead of the heckler, Jack Benny calls himself a tightwad. Shakespeare's Malvolio is almost deranged when people tease him. But I will try to be funnier. I know something about humor — namely, good humor is always personal; that is, it usually refers to basic senses. Sex is always funny. Hot and cold funny. Food is funny (I remember watching Harpo Marx eat a whole bowl of sugar once) and sleep is funny. Humor has a definite relation to something physical. Audits Show How Services Plan, Or Don't Plan, Spending Money

From The Columbus (Ohio) Citizen Journal In his annual report to congress, the comptroller general of the United States devotes chapter 6 (52 pages) to the armed services. This is merely a rundown of dozens of audits, investigations and inspections made by the comptroller in the year ended last June 30. Here are just few of the items, boiled down: Military Assistance abroad — large quantities of material in excess of needs. Appropriations requests based on insufficient knowl-

Speed Not Only Advantage of New Liners

From The San Diego Union A recent announcement that the United States finally is going into the hydrofoil business will be welcomed by those who have longed for a combination of speed and comfort in ocean travel. The best conventional liner today moves at about 30 knots. The hydrofoil equipped ship will skim along at about 90 knots. Also, it eliminates most of the motion that makes liner passengers seasick on the high seas. While the emphasis is on getting places in a hurry nowadays, importance of the hydrofoil's smooth riding features mustn't be underestimated. Even sailors get seasick. So, those who have found seasickness pills wanting may be willing to give science another chance through hydrodynamics. those which would hold their children up to ridicule as they grow older. Looking Backward

Early Public Address System

100 YEARS AGO Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of April 14, 1860. In the City Hall Park at New York City Friday morning an inventive genius had on exhibition a contrivance for the benefit of those who are hard of hearing. It attracted the attention of the ever curious crowd. The instrument is nothing less than a reservoir for the collection of sound, connected with a series of pipes for conveying to many different ears at once. It is designed for use in churches, one of which in New York City, already has adopted it. The funnel-shaped vessel is placed before the pulpit and catches the words as fast as they drop from the speaker's lips. From the bottom of the funnel, pipes are laid beneath the floor to the various parts of the house occupied by those whose hearing is defective, and these terminate in ear-pieces attached to the side of the pew. 25 YEARS AGO Friday, April 12, 1935 Manufacturers of consumers' goods, such as food and clothing, strongly supported an extension of NRA with the warning that its abandonment would lead to "financial chaos." After devoting two hours to the most acrimonious debate the house has had in the present session, the assembly adopted a joint resolution censuring the Wisconsin Telephone company for its opposition to the 1935 relief tax law as expressed in its pending supreme court suit and for contesting previous income tax assessments. William J. Roemer and Dr. G. E. Massart won the American league first prize in Appleton Contract Bridge association play at the Elks club. Second honors in the league went to Mr. and Mrs. Daniel P. Steinberg. Mrs. A. B. Fisher was re-elected president of Appleton Woman's club. Mrs. James Wagg was reelected first vice president. 10 YEARS AGO Friday, April 14, 1950 Smoke billowed from every opening in the building which housed the Flagstone bar and living quarters for the Claude Charron family on Highway 125 as fire destroyed the structure Thursday. Members of the Grand Chute fire department fought the fire for an hour before bringing it under control. Officials estimated that the loss may run as high as $20,000. Explosion of an oil burner was blamed. President Truman's plan for reorganizing the agriculture department met with strong opposition from mem-

Civil Rights Has Long Way to Go in State

BY JOHN WYNGAARD Madison — The brave, and even bold, new goals in civil rights for the people of Wisconsin as set down in a significant conference of civic leaders here recently will be more difficult to achieve than to identify. The conference resolved, for example, that the legislature will be asked to write into law absolute prohibitions against discrimination, on any grounds, in the sale of rental of private housing in Wisconsin. Whatever philosophical allegiance the people of Wisconsin have toward the ideal of equality of men, realists will recognize that this proposal will be infinitely difficult to enact. It is perhaps worth noting that the state of New York, which is customarily regarded as the leader in the field of anti-discrimination legislation, has not yet achieved a law of such breadth.

Wyngaard

DIFFICULTIES There are some problem fields that honest men must admit will be very difficult to resolve. There is no real doubt that some prospective guests are not welcome at some of the state's tourist resorts, whatever the private convictions of their proprietors, and that through one way or another their patronage is discouraged. But these conference members realistically recognized that the resort proprietors rely upon the patronage of a large regional area — and to some degree the national public are related to the financial success of a tourist resort, whatever the feelings of the people of Wisconsin or the men who run them. The conference conclusion appeared to be that Wisconsin had made good progress, but that much more remains to be done, through moral suasion, demonstration, and legislation. It may be that the ideal, given the fallibility of the human personality, never will be attained, but their is encouragement in the fact that the striving continues.

THE CONFERENCE Aside from its formal reports, the size and the composition of the conference are worth second glances at a time when the idea of civil rights is boiling as one of the major issues before the nation as a result of the cultural recalcitrance of the south. Without pretense to special competence in this field, this reporter would venture a guess that Wisconsin will compare favorably with the most enlightened states in the country in the practical execution of the laws and the ideas in civil liberties that are embodied in the fundamental documents of the nation. Yet this conference found a number of problem fields, and produced a series of challenges for further progress, and Gov. Nelson delivered one of the most eloquent addresses of his career on the "unfinished business" in civil rights, a topic that can become dangerously trite in the mouths of politicians. Some of the challenges are worth a second look. One sectional group produced a report, for example, about the need for finer leadership on the part of public agencies on the subject of fair employment. It must have seemed incongruous over the years to many close observers that a state government, for example, which is forever lecturing private employers about their obligation to hire from the ranks of minority groups without discrimination has been conspicuous for its own avoidance of such action as an employer. One of the sorest spots is the fact that not more than a handful of Negroes ever have been employed by the state, which has about 20,000 on its payrolls today.

Knob Twister Has Idea for TV Programs Editor, Post-Crescent: Allow me to introduce myself. I'm known at our house as the knob twister. I'm not very popular between the hour of 7 and 8 in the evening. (That's when I do the most knob twisting.) Because I'm usually busy with other matters I don't spend much time in the living room during this hour. (That's where I do the knob twisting.) The cue to perform the unpopular feat is when I hear the type of theme music that is so prevalent on a certain type of TV program that features lust and violence instead of good scripts. In my role of knob twister, I have to select the type of TV that I feel is suitable for my children to watch. (They aren't very selective.) Adult westerns, expensive detectives, cheap girls, have no place in my living room. It's too crowded with young minds. In all fairness I have to admit that I am not infallible. I may twist off a suitable show, or I may allow a program on that presents itself as suitable entertainment but is sorely lacking in the wholesome department. That is why I am in favor of a knob-twisting club. There are no dues, no membership cards, no meetings; in fact the members won't even be called fun-loving. The only qualification is the courage it takes to twist the knob over the protests of the junior citizens. Oh yes, a letter to the vice presidents in charge of programing might help. Along with the announcements that the programs are "live on tape with audience reaction technically augmented" the announcer could add, "This program is suitable (or unsuitable) for child viewers." # Press Search for French Kidnapers

Investigation was started to make sure.

Police questioned the Peugeot family.

Blinking back tears, the boy's father, Roland, appeared to speak to hundreds of newsmen.

Very Happy
"I am very happy. I hardly think there is anything more to say."

Then, he led his wife and two sons, Eric and 7-year-old Jean-Philippe, before a battery of photographers for a few seconds. Little Eric snuggled in his mother's arms and appeared bemused. The father read a brief statement saying:

"I acted absolutely alone, without the aid of the police" in obtaining the release of Eric.

He made no mention of the ransom and answered no questions about it. Some Paris newspapers said it was believed the ransom was paid in gold but made no mention of the sum. The kidnapers had demanded $100,000.

Ransom Mystery
The mystery surrounding the ransom led to speculation the father had promised the kidnapers to keep the details secret. In a nationwide television appeal two nights ago, he promised to abide by instructions if he got his son back and also promised he would not press charges if the boy was safely returned.

Police Inspector Albert Gillet, bossing detectives in-vetsigating the case, told newsmen "we can give no information on the ransom, neither on how it was constituted or how it was delivered to the kidnapers."

Gillet said search for the kidnapers got started in earnest after the boy was freed at 1 a.m.

"We promised the family," he said, "we did not wish to do anything to frighten the kidnapers. But now everything is being done to find the kidnapers as quickly as possible."

He said Eric had been unable to give more than a superficial account of his captivity and the men who held him.

The boy was found crying on a sidewalk within half a mile of his home here early this morning. He said two men left him there, apparently the same two men who abducted him from the playground at swank St. Cloud Country club Tuesday afternoon.

the November general election.

"We already have most of them," an Addison spokesman said. He added that individuals who have loaned Addison more than $1 million for uranium operations in Arizona and Colorado will be organized into a campaign force.

Addison, 34, has been involved in various court bankruptcy proceedings as a result of money he obtained from investors in his Benson upgrader, a machine for processing uranium ore. He was acquitted in San Antonio last year on a charge of defrauding after insisting the money he received was in the form of loans and not investments.

work campaign—a potent economic weapon in this country where three million whites lean heavily on the labor of 10 million Negroes.

Leaders in Prison
The African congress demanded an end to the passes which all Negroes must carry in white-settled areas, freedom for the organization's jailed leaders, lifting of the government ban against the congress, and an end to the current state of emergency imposed by the government.

"Because of demanding and speaking for our rights, hundreds of our leaders are today in prison," the pamphlet declared.

"For fighting for freedom and justice our organization has been outlawed. For protesting against the pass laws many of our men, women and children have been killed, wounded and thrown into prison."

The initial boycott followed violent racial strike that was set off by mass demonstrations against the hated passes that Negroes must carry at all times.

At Mt. Rubidoux in Riverside, 60 miles southeast of Los Angeles, torchlights held by Boy Scouts and high school ROTC cadets will light the way for pilgrims who annually climb 1,337 feet up the mountain for sunrise services. Sponsors of the event, first held in 1909, claim it is the nation's oldest of its kind.

The Air Academy choir will sing in the Garden of the Gods near Colorado Springs. This sunrise service and another at the park of red rocks west of Denver are expected to draw nearly 30,000 persons.

A huge cross will be the magnet for worshippers at Bald Knob, Ill., highest spot in the state, where annual outdoor services are scheduled. The devout from five states take part in the pilgrimage. A rural mail carrier and a country parson originated the observance 23 years ago.

Nations War Dead

to a mountain lake sanctuary near Lake Wales, Fla. for sunrise services that have been held annually since 1927. In Miami's Orange bowl, 40,000 or more are expected to attend a 7-scene pageant depicting the last days of Christ. The annual feature is presented at Easter sunrise and again in the evening.

Where the Ohio river meets the Big Sandy at Kenova, W. Va., an annual outdoor service will again be held. And in Memorial stadium in Baltimore, other thousands will gather with the sunrise.

And far to the north, on a pine-crested New Hampshire knoll near Rindge, solemn non-denominational services will be held at sunrise before an altar enshrined to the nation's war dead.

Estate of Penniless Wigmaker $365,000
Chicago — A 78-year-old German-born wig maker who was believed nearly penniless when he died last month left a fortune of more than $365,000, an inventory has disclosed.

Max Roeder, who lived in a $4 a week room and whose assets at his death were believed to be $120 and the clothes he was wearing, was fatally injured on March 9 when he fell in an elevator shaft in a loop building.

Roeder was known to many Chicagoans who rented fancy dress costumes from Fritz Schoultz and company at 117 N. Wabash ave. The owner gave Roeder space for his vanishing art of wigmaking at the front of the costume gallery.

major cold war issues headed for summit discussion — Germany-Berlin and disarmament. Basically they re-adopted their previous stand on these issues with few modifications, even though the west have rejected the western proposals before.

On Germany, the ministers stood by their long term goal of a reunified, Democratic Germany, including German-wide elections.

Interim Accord
They agreed again that the issue of communist-surrounded Berlin should be solved by the reunification of Germany, although if this is impossible, they may seek some kind of interim accord under which allied rights to the city would remain unimpaired.

On disarmament, the foreign ministers renewed their support of the western proposals set forth last month at the now deadlocked Geneva disarmament parley.

They decided to reoffer at the summit some specific parts of their plan on which speedy agreement might be possible without requiring strong policing that the Soviets object to.

Southern Senator Defends Durfee

Washington — A prominent southern senator has come to the defense of James R. Durfee and his acceptance of free plane trips while serving as chairman of the Civil Aeronautics board.

Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.), in a senate speech, said that the trips that Durfee took were in line of duty.

Durfee's nomination to be a judge of the U. S. Court of Claims, now pending in the senate, has come under fire from Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) who cited the trips.

Durfee is a native of Antigo and a former chairman of the Wisconsin Public Service Commission.

Monroney said Durfee's CAB service has been distinguished by "diligence, courage and fairness." He said Durfee was "a man of great integrity and great dedication."

Prince Born to Royal Couple
Brussels, Belgium — A salvo of 101 rounds told the Belgians today that a new prince is now second in line for the throne.

Italian-born Princess Paola, wife of Prince Albert of Liege, gave birth to a blue-eyed, blond son this morning at Belvedere palace, their home on the outskirts of Brussels. The baby weighed 7 pounds 8 ounces.

An announcement said the 22-year-old princess and her baby were doing well. He will be christened in the Roman Catholic faith.

The prince, who will be named Philippe Leopold Louis Marie, ranks in the line of succession after his father. Albert is a brother of 29-year-old King Baudouin, who is a bachelor. The baby will be known as Prince Philippe.

Nelson Not Ready To Ask Port Aid

Depends Upon Needs Study, Tax Economics

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—Gov. Nelson said Thursday he is not yet ready to recommend state financial assistance for the development of municipal port and harbor facilities on lakes and rivers in spite of last week's electoral approval of such a program.

The governor said he won't recommend any action, under the constitutional amendment legalizing such aids, to the legislature that reconvenes May 16.

Whether he later will urge state financial aid in the form of grants or loans to cities or counties will depend upon an evaluation of the port and harbor needs of the state, and their relation to the economic concerns of the state's taxpayers as a whole, he said.

Casual Interest

(Wisconsin port cities have shown only casual interest in the matter to date, and the city of Milwaukee has been hostile to the idea of state assistance. It apparently fears that it might be taxed for the development of competing facilities after having financed out of its own resources what is conceded to be one of the most modern ports on the Great Lakes.)

The governor said he had instructed David Carley of the state division of industrial development to make an evaluation of the comparative importance and needs of Wisconsin ports, and the relation of their economic potential to the interests of the state as a whole.

The governor also seemed to indicate that if some state help is called for, he is likely to prefer a system of loans to outright grants.

Not the Time

Unspoken was the idea that the state, facing a substantial current deficit, is now in poor condition to contemplate taking on additional financial responsibilities.

In other comments at his news conference, the governor again indicated that he hopes for a short spring legislative session, "but if they insist on sitting around here for quite a while I'll give them something to chew on." But he said he has not yet worked up a specific program of legislation for the returning lawmakers.

Park Fees

Nelson said he has been asked by the conservation commission to sponsor a bill requiring admissions fees for the state parks, but related that if he does so, he will ask only for a $2 annual use fee for non-residents who reportedly account for 60 per cent of all park patronage.

The Democratic chief executive also brushed aside complaints from Republican state headquarters that he had actually helped Sen. John Kennedy in the recent presidential campaign.

Foundry Sparks Lead To Grass Fire Run

Kaukauna — Firemen were called about 2:50 p. m. Thursday to extinguish a grass fire in back of Roloff Manufacturing on Gertrude street.

It is believed sparks from the foundry at the Roloff plant ignited dry grass. No damage was reported to surrounding property.

YOU KNOW YOU'LL SAVE WITH PATE

In a few seconds you can see why Pate Air Glide is more economical than other gasolines!

In building quality into a gasoline, Pate chemists start where others leave off. It's true that other companies offer gasoline just as it comes from the refinery. Not Pate! Pate alone takes high octane gasoline and steps it up 4 ways. You get extra power, more mileage, positive protection against stalling and a cleaner, cooler burning engine.

There's no guesswork about the money you save with Pate. The facts are clear. Pate Air Glide is the most powerful gasoline at the price of regular, and Pate Ultra Air Glide has no equal at any price!

Try a fill and feel the difference!

You're Ahead with Pate... Because Pate is Ahead of the Field

STEPPED-UP FOR EXTRA POWER
Pate Air Glide is an exclusive blend of high octane regular and super premium fuel. Extra power means extra savings.

STEPPED-UP FOR EXTRA MILEAGE
The high detergency of Pate's multi-purpose additive builds mileage. It saved a fleet of taxicabs $1200 a month. You'll save money, too!

STEPPED-UP TO PREVENT STALLING
When an engine stalls at a stop sign, you're wasting gasoline! Pate's anti-stalling fuel ends costly stops and starts once and for all.

STEPPED-UP FOR CLEANER BURNING
Pate's new additive coats metal and moving parts with a protective film that rust and corrosion can't penetrate. It saves repair bills — protects the investment you've made in your automobile.

Carpenter, Quinn Fail To Clear Up Mystery Of Sawyer Resignation

Speedy Mauch Appointment Shows Gene Might Have Been Under Consideration

Philadelphia — Did Eddie Sawyer quit because he was tired of managing or because he read the handwriting on the wall?

This was the question inquiring reporters tried to get answered Thursday night before the Philadelphia Phillies, under acting manager Andy Cohen, met the Milwaukee Braves at Connie Mack stadium.

The unexpected resignation of the 49-year-old Sawyer and immediate appointment of Gene Mauch as his successor landed on the Philadelphia sports scene like a bombshell.

"I just don't care to manage a major league club, or any club," asserted Sawyer Thursday in giving up one of the coveted 16 major league managerships.

Phillies owner Bob Carpenter and General Manager John Quinn said they were shocked over Sawyer's decision.

"He'd still be managing if he wanted to," Quinn said. "I'm disappointed in Eddie," commented Carpenter who brought Sawyer back in mid-season of 1958, for his second term as manager.

Carpenter at that time expressed the hope Sawyer could take the youngsters budding in the Phillies' farm system and develop them into a pennant winner in the same manner he did in the late 1940s.

Asked point blank if Sawyer gave up the ghost because he was being told from the front office whom to play, Quinn said, "I never told a manager whom to play, and I never will."

"Sawyer has a free hand on the field. Certainly we discussed the merits of players, their condition, etc., but I never interfered with him."

It has been widely speculated that although Quinn and Sawyer were good friends, the one-time college professor was not Quinn's type of manager. It has been felt in some quarters that Sawyer wouldn't last the season in this graveyard of managers.

The 34-year-old Mauch will be the Phillies' sixth skipper since 1950.

The speed with which Quinn brought in Mauch from Minneapolis indicated he had been thinking in terms of the American association manager as a possible replacement for Sawyer.

Joe Koppe's Hit Breaks Up Game

Philadelphia, Pa. — Acting Manager Andy Cohen who led his Philadelphia Phillies to a 5-4 overtime victory over the Milwaukee Braves Thursday night may go down as baseball's only unbeaten manager.

Cohen took over for one day Thursday when Manager Eddie Sawyer quit and won a battle of strategy in the tenth inning with Milwaukee's boss, Charlie Dressen. Cohen was scheduled to be relieved today by a new manager, Gene Mauch.

2-Run Homer Outfielder Bobby Del Greco was Philadelphia's hero, scoring the winning run in the tenth after he had figured in two previous Phillies scoring blasts. His earlier contributions included a 2-run homer and a run-scoring double.

Del Greco, whose weak bat has kept him from making the Major leagues in four previous tries, walked to open the extra inning. He stole second. After catcher Jim Coker fled out, the brain trusts of both teams went into action.

Cohen sent Ted Lepcio, a right hand hitter to bat for pitcher Don Cardwell against southpaw reliever Juan Pizarro. Dressen countered with pitcher Bob Giggie, a right-hander, so Cohen subbed John Callison, a left-handed swinger for Lepcio.

Callison was walked intentionally. Joe Koppe, who had struck out in three previous trips to the plate, singled off shortstop Johnny Logan's glove, scoring Del Greco with the winning run.

Cardwell came on in the fifth inning and in addition to pitching fine ball unloaded the third home run of his major league career in the sixth to tie the score at 4-4. He allowed six hits and one run, struck out five and walked none in his 6-inning tour of duty.

Milwaukee got off to an early 3-run lead in the first inning off Curt Simmons, the 30-year-old southpaw who is Turn to Page 10, Col. 1

Left-Handed Pro Ties for Lead in Greensboro Test

Greensboro, N.C. — Two rank outsiders, Thorne Wood and Len Woodward, were showing the way as the $17,500 Greater Greensboro Open Golf tournament's second round got under way today.

Wood, a left-handed professional from nearby Asheboro, led the pack of 128 after a first round 66, five under par.

Woodward, 27-year-old Sydney, Australia pro, was one stroke back, tied with Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., last year's winner here.

Only two shots away in fourth place was Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., who has won here six times.

New Orders Pouring in

Green Bay — More seats at City stadium? Earl Falck, director of Packer ticket sales, has an 8-by-10 box under the counter at the Packer ticket office (340 S. Washington). The box is stuffed with envelopes.

"Those are new orders for tickets," Earl beamed, "and we're getting more every day. We're running about 8 to 1 ahead of a year ago on new orders."

Demand Greater The Packers have something hot to sell this year and, as Falck pointed out, "it's showing up in the new orders."

A year ago, the Packers had for sale the hopes and plans of the new Vince Lombardi regime which took over a 1-win team — plus good prospects for the future. There's another indication that the demand will be great.

greater this year. All of the regular season ticket holders (there are nearly 7,000 of them) have been informed by mail that the renewal deadline has been set at May 1. The first ticket-information mailing, with a renewal card enclosed, was made over the weekend and in three days more than one-fifth of the cards have been returned.

"That an exceptionally fast return," Falck said. With a change in prices this year, the Packers are coming out with a new brochure, matching up colors of the various sections with the new prices.

AHS Enters 22 Trackmen In Madison West Relays

Sprint Medley Unit Seeks Another High Finish; '880' Team a Threat

A 22-member squad will represent Appleton High school in Class A of the Madison West relays Saturday in the University of Wisconsin's Camp Randall Memorial building.

Most of the top non-Milwaukee big high schools in Wisconsin and several from Northern Illinois annually compete in the meet. Last year AHS placed sixth in a 24-team field.

Kenosha finished first. Two members of the 1959 relays' runnerup sprint medley team—AHS' Cal Klueess and Dave Reinke—return for this event. Klueess will again run the 440 leg and Reinke will take a 220. Bill Weber will replace the graduated Bob Roemer in the 880 leg and Wayne Polzin will run one 220 in place of another alumnus, Mike Franzke.

Another Terror who qualified in the meet last year is hurdler Dave LaViolette. He's entered in the 70-yard lows along with sophomore Chuck Loberg.

One of the better Appleton High threats at Madison should be the 880-yard relay team, which has clicked off a 1:38 in practice. Members are Klueess, Reinke, Polzin and Pete Kafura.

LaViolette is also entered in the 60-yard dash, as is Jim Hill. Running on Appleton's 180-yard shuttle hurdle relay unit will be Marty Schultz, Mike Furstenberg and soph Tom Parker.

The mile relay unit consists of Kafura, Bill Simon, Denny Gillespie and Pete Glasheen. All are in the .54-.55 seconds neighborhood. Shot putters are football Turn to Page 10, Col. 8

Charlie Mohr Still in Coma

Madison — Charlie Mohr, 22-year-old Wisconsin boxer who sustained a brain injury last Saturday while defending his NCAA 165-pound division title here remained in a coma today.

Attendants at University Hospitals said that the condition of the young fighter was "still critical." Mohr has been unconscious since shortly after the fight that was stopped in the second round when he was knocked down.

Shortly after the fight between Mohr and Stu Bartell, of the San Jose, Calif. team, Mohr underwent surgery for removal of a blood clot on the right side of his brain.

Bobby Avila To Play in Mexico City

Mexico City — Infielder Bobby Avila says he will play with the Mexico City Tigers of the Mexican baseball league this season.

The veteran second baseman, property of the Milwaukee Braves, was optioned by the National league club to its Louisville farm club of the American association last week. The Louisville club, in turn, optioned him to the Mexico City team.

Avila said the Milwaukee club approved the second transfer provided he agreed to re-join the Braves should they want him later in the season.

The Braves obtained Avila on waivers from the Boston Red Sox last summer and kept him the remainder of the season. He was a holdout this year, refusing to accept a $5,000 cut.

Of Mexican nationality, Avila has not played in his native land since 1948. He joined the Cleveland Indians in 1949 and was the American league batting champion in 1954.

He was a holdout this year, refusing to accept a $5,000 cut.

Cubs, Los Angeles Tie San Francisco For League Lead

Banks Hits Grand-Slam Homer Against Giants; Dodgers Win, 3-2

By The Associated Press So it's early yet and it may not mean a thing, but Duke Snider and Gil Hodges, too old to do it again, and Ed Roebuck, a forgotten reliever, have the Los Angeles Dodgers in first place at the moment.

Snider belted a home run, his first hit of the season, and Hodges triggered a 2-run ninth that gave Roebuck his first victory since 1957 in a 3-2 decision over winless St. Louis Thursday night.

That hoisted the world champs into a share of the National league lead with San Francisco and the Chicago Cubs, who handed the Giants their first loss, 6-5.

Vern Law Wins The Milwaukee Braves lost, 5-4, in 10 innings to the Philadelphia Phillies. The Pittsburgh Pirates walloped Cincinnati, 13-0, behind Vern Law's 7-hit pitching.

Trailing, 2-1, after 8½ innings Thursday night, the Dodgers got a lead-off single from pinch-hitter Chuck Essegian — the man who won the opener against Chicago with an eleventh-inning homer.

Gil Hodges drove in Essegian with a triple and scored himself after two walks when Bob Dilliba flung a wild pitch into the dirt with pinch-hitter Carl Furillo at bat.

The Cubs yielded a 4-1 lead that had been built up on Ernie Banks' grand slam homer in the third inning, then came back in the ninth to score the decisive run against the Giants.

The big run came when Bob Will raced home from first on a windblown double by Frank Thomas and a wild throw to the plate by Eddie Bressoud.

After Banks' homer, his second in two games, the Giants tied it 5-5 in the eighth on Willie McCovey's 3-run smash off Don Elston. Elston, who relieved Seth Morehead in the eighth, got the victory.

Johnson Ends Threat The Giants gave a Candlestick park crowd of 32,350 the jitters when they got men on first and third in the last of the ninth. But Ben Johnson, the fourth Cub pitcher, got Jim Davenport — the only man he faced — to ground into a force play.

The decisive Cub run came at the expense of Billy O'Dell. He walked Will with one out. Thomas' shot dropped between Orlando Cepeda Turn to Page 10, Col. 3

Clintonville — Hortonville High school's baseball Truckers rallied for a 3-1 victory over Hortonville here Thursday in one extra inning.

Jim Petcka, whose pinch-hit single figured in the 1-run Clintonville seventh, was the scoreless seventh and eighth, allowing one hit and one walk, striking out four.

The Polar Bears had gone ahead, 1-0, in the second, when Gary Schroeder stroked the game's only extra base hit, a double, after two walks. The hosts maintained that lead until the top of the seventh when Petcka rapped his single. A force out and a pair of errors produced the game-tying run.

Trucker Eighth In the Trucker eighth, Mike Nelson singled and Bob Gensler beat out a safe bunt. A sacrifice moved the runners to second and third. A sacrifice fly tallied one run and a passed ball scored another.

Carl Krueckenberg started for Clintonville and went the first six innings allowing the run on four hits and three walks, striking out four.

Larry Collar toiled all the way for the losers, giving six hits and four walks, fanning eight. He's a senior right-hander. The game opened Clintonville's season while Hortonville had beaten Kimberly in a practice game earlier.

Time Out

with Mike Drew

Confirmation of the report that the Fox Cities Foxes' 1960 manager, Earl Weaver, is a "live wire" comes from Menasha's "Fritz" Heiss.

Heiss, now employed in customer service at Marathon division, played about half of last season with Duluth-Superior in the Class C Northern league. Weaver managed the rival Aberdeen club.

"Weaver is a real firepot who keeps a club 'up' all the time," says Heiss. "He really has 'em moving and with some breaks he would have won the league playoff. I understand he's a good man to play for."

Currently the coach of the Menasha St. Mary baseball team and 1960 field manager of the Menasha Maes, Heiss took in a half dozen or so Foxes Three-I league games late last summer. He left the Northern loop in early July after suffering a serious ankle injury.

Big Difference

"The big difference between the Three-I and the Northern," says the former Menasha High school and American legion star, "is that in Class B ball you see consistently good pitching. Each Northern league club had a couple of weak pitchers."

"Another thing is that Class B players have had that extra year's experience."

(Los Angeles Dodger Farm Director Fresno Thompson was quoted as saying practically the same thing about the Three-I the other day. "We have boys who burn up a league in D and C ball, and then tail off in a B league. We feel that if a youngster has a good year in the Three-I he's a good prospect. Class B baseball is the crossroads in a boy's climb up the ladder.")

Former Oshkosh High school and American Legion baseball star Bob Bettin is no longer on the Foxes' roster. A lefthanded hitter, Bettin was hitting the ball well in spring training, but it was felt he wasn't ready for Class B.

"The most improved player at the (Los Angeles Dodgers) Dodgerstown camp," is how Green Bay sportscaster Bill Howard describes Nate Oliver. Oliver played some fine shortstop for the Foxes last summer after being optioned here by the Dodgers.

He has been working with St. Paul of the American Association but may very well end up with Green Bay, with whom he started last season. Just a rookie, Nate hit a combined .224 in the Three-I but most of his hitting was done for the Foxes.

Among the men who will play for their 1959 Fox Cities manager, Jack McKeon, at Wilson in the Class B Carolina league this summer are the likes of: Phil Condu, "Chuck" Weatherspoon, Bennie Siquefield and "Potato" Pascual.

Though he's just 34, Gene Mauch brings plenty of solid ability to his new job as manager of the Philadelphia Phillies. Appleton's Stu Locklin, who performed for Gene at Minneapolis calls him the top manager he's played under in his long career.

Appleton's Austin Cotton entered the U.S. Air Force April 1. Cotton, former Terror track star who went on to win the Big 10 indoor half mile crown while competing for the University of Wisconsin, graduated from the UW, and received his commission, in January. He's in service for three years.

He and Lawrence college sports star Jim Schulze, another onetime AHS sports great, substituted for Appleton High teacher Dave Black when Black was out of school for a month or so earlier this semester. Other Lawrence athletes who have been practicing teaching at AHS include Jim Leatham, Gil Sutherland and Doug Logan.

An achin' knee didn't keep Appleton's Henry Wilz from finishing his twenty-seventh season of kegging, without a miss, in Appleton's Elks Grocers league. Henry sprained his knee when younger and it acted up on him this year but he stuck it out.

His fellow bowlers presented him with a persistence trophy for the third straight year.

Of the 441 high schools in the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic association, only 28 don't have varsity baseball. One of them is Appleton High school and AHS, with an enrollment of 1,760 in the upper three grades, is one of the biggest schools in the state. It looks as if John Landis, who left the AHS faculty a year ago to do graduate study at the University of Minnesota, will return here next fall. The former Appleton High and Lawrence athlete and son of the teams physician, might be the Terror's first coach of varsity wrestling if school officials decide to install the mat sport.

Madison — The world of 9-year-old Tommy Moen received a shattering blow Saturday night when the Charlie Mohr, University of Wisconsin boxer from Merrick, Today — six days after the mishap — Tommy sadly waits for word about his best friend and ideal.

The boy's friendship with the 22-year-old athlete was no distant one. It was probably as close as an athlete can be with a young follower.

It started last fall. Young Moen, son of Arnold Moen, a Madison fireman, lives across the street from the Badger fieldhouse and the stadium. The boy is one of the legion of small fry on hand daily to watch practice sessions and see an athletic event if tickets are to be had for the asking or a gate not too tight.

Last fall Moen found a $3 bill as crowds poured into a football game. He spotted a program seller and asked if he lost the five. The seller said he didn't know but could tell later when he checked in.

The bill was on the ground near the program dispenser's stand. The boy kept the five and pointed across the street to the house where he lived. An evening caller was

N. Y., was injured in his NCAA bout in the Wisconsin fieldhouse.

Mohr explained the bill was the one he lost. He got it back and gave the lad a dollar.

A bond between the two grew. Young Moen was on hand for every Mohr bout in Madison. He wished Mohr luck on entering the ring and greeted him in the dressing room after with a "nice going, Charlie."

Mohr became a frequent guest in the Moen home. It was routine for the two to go to the Moen home after a bout where Mohr would telephone his parents in Merrick.

The boy was in the dressing room when Charlie returned from his last bout and collapsed with a brain hemorrhage.

"I asked Charlie how he felt and he said 'not so good,'" the boy recalls.

Tommy saw the boxer taken away in an ambulance. Tears, tries, at understanding and consoling followed.

Says the boy's father: "Every boy has an idol. I thank God my boy's is Charlie Mohr."

Miteff Meets Warner in 10-Rounder

Atlantic City, N. J. — Alex Miteff, the No. 8 heavyweight contender, faces unranked Don Warner of Philadelphia tonight in a 10-round match at Convention hall.

Miteff, a sturdy Argentine is substituting for Eddie Machen who withdrew because of his mother's illness.

The scrap gets the usual Friday night network (NBC) radio and television treatment. The referee will be the only official.

Despite his solid ranking, Miteff had some troubles in 1959 when he lost three of six. In his last two starts last year he was stopped by Billy Hunter and lost a decision to the same man. However, he has won two fights this year, both by knockouts for a 21-5-1 lifetime record.

Warner, 20, never has been in with a ranked opponent. Fighting only since 1958, he has a 10-1-2 record with nine knockouts. In his only 1960 bout he fought an 8-round draw with Lee Williams in a Madison Square garden semifinal Jan. 1.

Montreal's Jacques Plante (Left) and Maurice "Rocket" Richard pose with the Stanley cup after their win over Toronto in Maple Leaf gardens Thursday. The Canadiens swept the 4-game championship series for their fifth straight Stanley cup.

Montreal Captures Stanley Cup Again

Completes Playoff Sweep to Win Title for Fifth Straight Time

Toronto—(AP)—The Montreal Canadiens were hailed today as the greatest all-round team in the history of professional hockey following the winning of the Stanley cup for an unprecedented fifth straight year.

The power-packed Canadiens wrapped up the National Hockey league's post-season competition Thursday night with a 4-0 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs.

The triumph gave the league champions a sweep of the two playoff series—a feat accomplished only once before. That was by Detroit in 1952.

Eliminate Hawks
En route to the finals, the Canadiens eliminated the Chicago Black Hawks four games to none with goalie Jacques Plante turning in two shut-outs. Thursday night's shut-out was his only one in the four games with Toronto.

Counting the last two victories over Toronto a year ago, the Canadiens have won 10 straight playoff games.

They have been a finalist in the post-season competition for 10 straight years.

Joe Belliveau, at 29, one of the great stars of the power-packed club, was the leading scorer in the game. He scored the first and last goals. In between Doug Harvey and Henri Richard tallied.

Dixon Shoots 68 to Lead Collegians

Houston, Texas—(AP)—Gene Dixon, a chubby Memphis State senior, held a 3-stroke lead today as the third round began in the sixth annual National Intercollegiate Invitation Golf tournament.

Starting with an eagle 3 on the first hole, Dixon scored a 4-under par 68 second round Thursday for 139 at the half-way mark of the 72-hole tournament.

Three strokes back, at 142, were two University of Houston sophomores Larry Beck and Homero Blancas.

Tourney Record
The Houston foursome that also includes Jack Cupit and Tony Marimon, two members of the school's 1959 NCAA championship team, scored a tournament record 279 second round while boosting its team medal lead to 22 points over Louisiana State.

Louisiana State had 597. North Texas held third place at 608 and was followed by Oklahoma State, at 612, and Texas A&M, 619.

The two teams have an open date today but resume action here Saturday.

Willie Kirkland and Cepeda also hit homers.

Law, Pittsburgh's top winner last year, didn't walk a man and struck out two. The Bucs rapped Cal McLish, a Cleveland ace last season, for five extra base hits and a 5-0 lead in three innings. Bob Clemente, 3-for-3, drove in five runs and Bill Mazeroski, who homered, drove in four as Law won his fifth in a row against the Reds at Forbes field since 1956.

Dressen Wants Mathews to be Policeman of Braves' Infield

Philadelphia—(AP)—Eddie Mathews had a new job with the Milwaukee Braves today.

Manager Charlie Dressen named him as the "take charge guy" on defense in the infield Thursday night.

Dressen said that when he played third base he was the "policeman" of the infield and he wanted Mathews "to do the same for us."

"Red" Schoendienst, veteran second baseman who had made a comeback after being out a year with tuberculosis was the infield director in 1958 but Dressen believes "he's got more things to do and look out for at second base."

Fewer Worries
"That's why I'm picking Mathews for the job," Dressen said. "He doesn't have as much to worry about as third."

Dressen's decision to make Mathews the infield leader was greeted with pleasure by catcher Del Crandall.

"I think Eddie is a leader," Del said. "He has a great deal of respect from all of us on the team."

"He isn't what you call a holler guy, but he's a leader just the same — he leads by example and is in there playing hard all the time."

"The guy has an all-around personality that commands respect and he's sacrificed himself personally more than once for the good of the club."

(From Press Dispatches)

Baltimore's strong-armed young right-hander, Milt Pappas, stopped Kansas City, 3-0, Thursday on a 3-hitter in West Palm Beach, Fla. He struck out five and walked three in becoming the first Baltimore pitcher to go the route this spring. Only one runner reached third against him.

Detroit's Tigers snapped a 4-game losing streak by beating Washington, 8-3, at Lakeland and the Yankees won a home run duel with their Richmond, Va., farm club, of the International league, 15-10.

Bobby Thomson made his debut as a first baseman as Cleveland recorded a 5-1 victory over the Red Sox in Daytona Beach, Fla.

Heroes in Phils' Win

Del Greco, Cardwell May Reach Stardom

Philadelphia—(AP)—This but Del Greco and Cardwell could be the season a couple of guys with great potential were off to great starts Thursday night as the Phillies finally blossomed into major league stardom — outfielder Bobby Del Greco and pitcher Don Cardwell.

The 27-year-old Del Greco is no newcomer to the major league scene. He's had four chances in the big leagues, with Pittsburgh, the Cardinals, the Cubs and the New York Yankees. The cry was always the same: good field, no hit.

Last season at Buffalo in the International league, Del Greco hit .286 with 21 homers and 72 runs batted in.

Thursday night, he doubled home a run in the second inning off starter Carlton Willey and belted the same right-hander for a 2-run homer in the sixth, the inning the Phillies tied the score, 4-4, with a 3-run rally.

In the decisive tenth, he waited out relief pitcher Juan Pizarro for a walk, then stole second. Moments later, he scored from second on Joe Koppe's single to win the game.

Cardwell came out of the bullpen to replace Ruben Gomez who had relieved starter Curt Simmons. Cardwell gave up only one run in six innings, striking out five and walking none. In addition, he hit a home run.

2-Hit Shutout
Bowers had a 2-hit shutout entering the seventh inning before he weakened to allow both Papermaker runs on doubles by Rick Pohlman and Jeff Dietzler and a walk. Vern struck out four and walked over the route.

Tim Jury started for the losers and yielded four runs on five hits and three walks, striking out two, in the first three frames. Jeff VanderVelde finished, yielding one run on two hits and two walks, fanning two.

Bowers smacked a 2-run double in the first to give the Irish a 2-0 lead. When he came up again in the third he unloaded a 2-run triple to hike it to 4-0. He walked with the bases loaded in the fourth for the final Freedom tally.

Mrs. Harry Williams is shown in her silver-lined dining room in Green Bay. She has an impressive array of 1,700 antique and souvenir spoons that line the four walls. Many of the collector's treasures date back to the 1880's when there was a craze for such spoons.

Silver Collection Keeps Woman Busy

BY GINNIE EIDMANN
Post-Crescent News Service

The Harry Williams home in Green Bay is furnished in a comfortable, early American theme with the exception of the dining room—which is done in sterling silver.

Walk in, and the first thing you'll see is an impressive array of 1,700 antique and souvenir spoons that line the four walls and reflect the candlelight at family dinners.

Curator of the collection is Renee Williams, who figuratively was "born with a silver spoon in her mouth."

The sterling pageant, like Topsy in Uncle Tom's Cabin, "just grew." It began before Renee was born when her mother, the late Mrs. Fabien J. DenDooven, started a spoon-by-spoon collection in the days when "everyone had a roll of spoons."

Promote Spoons
As a child, the spoons were hers to admire, treasure and (inevitably) polish. When the Williamses remodeled their home 10 years ago Renee's souvenir spoons were promoted out of the protective felt casing and into neatly regimented rows in a small niche in the dining room.

From then on it was spoons, spoons, spoons! She received them as gifts, she met other collectors, poured over hobby magazines, visited dealers and dashed off to antique shows in Milwaukee, Lake Geneva and Chicago.

"Speaking of spoons" is Renee's hobby within a hobby, as each piece tells a story which she can translate in detail from memory. And what she doesn't remember is systematically recorded in a catalog of each piece, the hallmark, the price, where purchased or from whom received.

A grand tour of the dining room reveals a collector's paradise. Many of the specimens date back to the 1880s when there was a craze for souvenir spoons. Travelers to the continent would discover quaint spoons in Old World shops and bring them back as a remembrance of their globe-trotting adventures. Each is a craftsman's tribute in metal to people, places or happy occasions. For example, Renee has state seal spoons from all 50 states, and a similar number of ship spoons which are of great interest to her husband, an avid sailing enthusiast.

The 1891 Daniel Lowe spoon (first in the souvenir realm) is in her collection, as are the two Salem witch patterns of 1891. She has exquisite Swiss portrait spoons, painstakingly decorated with delicate enameled. Her 1891 trans-parent Christmas spoons look like a cathedral window when held to the light, and an outstanding Russian spoon is elaborately decorated both front and back.

In a curio corner is the Iron Maiden of Nuremberg which Renee picked up in Philadelphia. It opens at the top to disclose a miniature torture device. Her Norwegian tea caddy spoon is a collector's treasure also.

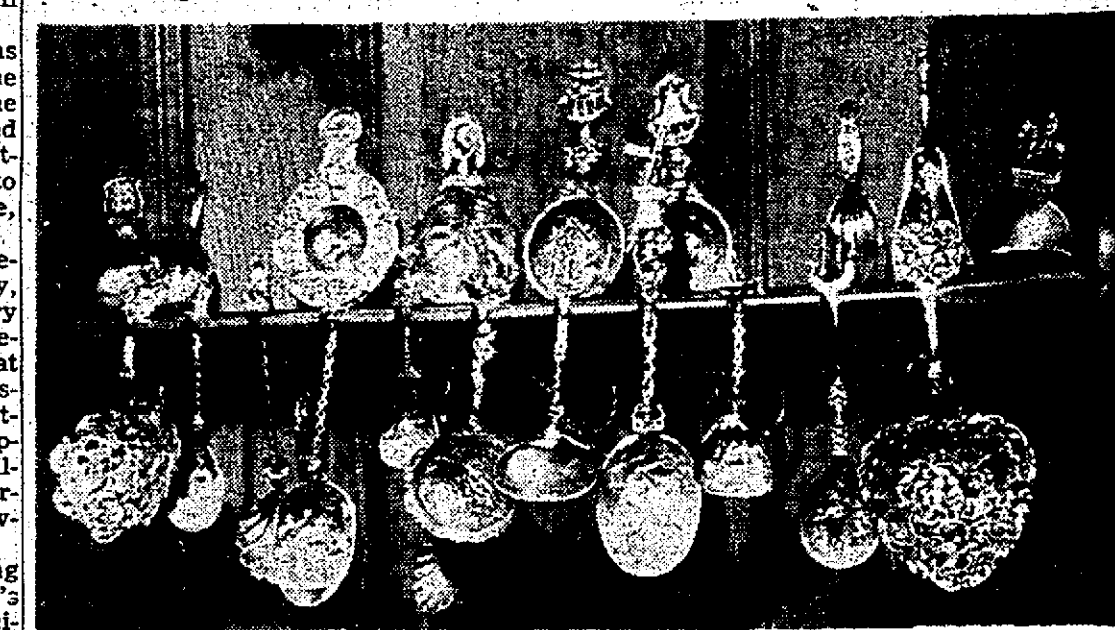

Antique fanciers envy her apostle spoons and monkey spoons. Early records of Christianity in Europe indicate that the former were given at baptism by sponsors, and featured the figure of one of the apostles or evangelists on the handle. A wealthy person would give a child the complete set of 12, while others gave one at a time. Renee considers her apostle spoons her finest treasure. One set, made in 1869, is a focal point in the living room.

Monkey Spoons
Monkey spoons were originally associated with Dutch weddings and funerals and were presented to clergymen, pallbearers and perhaps friends and relatives. The punch bowl was a vital part of the wedding feast or funeral wake, and these spoons could hang on the edge of the bowl.

"I can't stress enough the value of a hobby," is the advice of Mrs. Williams. "A hobby can be a family project to which each member can contribute, and from which each can benefit."

These Unusual Spoon specimens are among the 1,700 which are owned (and polished) by Mrs. Harry Williams. She has received many as gifts from people who know of her unusual hobby.

In Good Taste Worker Not Obligated In This Case

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: The other evening we were entertained by my husband's employer, who is naturally in altogether different financial circumstances than we are. As my husband and I could never hope to entertain in the way they are accustomed to, I am wondering if it is proper to return the invitation.

Answer: Strictly speaking, it is never expected that an employee make a return for an employer's invitation. But this does not mean that he may not make a return if he would like to. For example, when employer and employee are friendly—particularly when they are near the same age and congenial, it would be natural to return often repeated hospitality from time to time. The fact that the return is not at all "in kind" has nothing to do with the case, since one is never expected to make more of a return than one can. Also, people who have most themselves are least exacting. But as already said, if in your own situation, you don't feel like inviting your husband's employer to anything, there is no obligation whatever to do so.

Courtesy Service
Dear Mrs. Post: When one stops at a service station for gasoline and an attendant cleans the windshield of your car, is it necessary to give him a tip? I say "no" but a friend of mine thinks he should be given a tip for courtesy.

Answer: Cleaning the windshield is a courtesy service offered by many service stations to their customers; and no tip is necessary.

Dance With Each
Dear Mrs. Post: When a man and his fiancée are out in a restaurant where there is dancing, and they have a friend (a lady) with them, is it proper for them to get up and dance any time during the evening, or would it be rude to leave their guest sitting alone?

Answer: A woman should not be left alone at a table, but in this case the man might dance once with their guest and once with his fiancée.

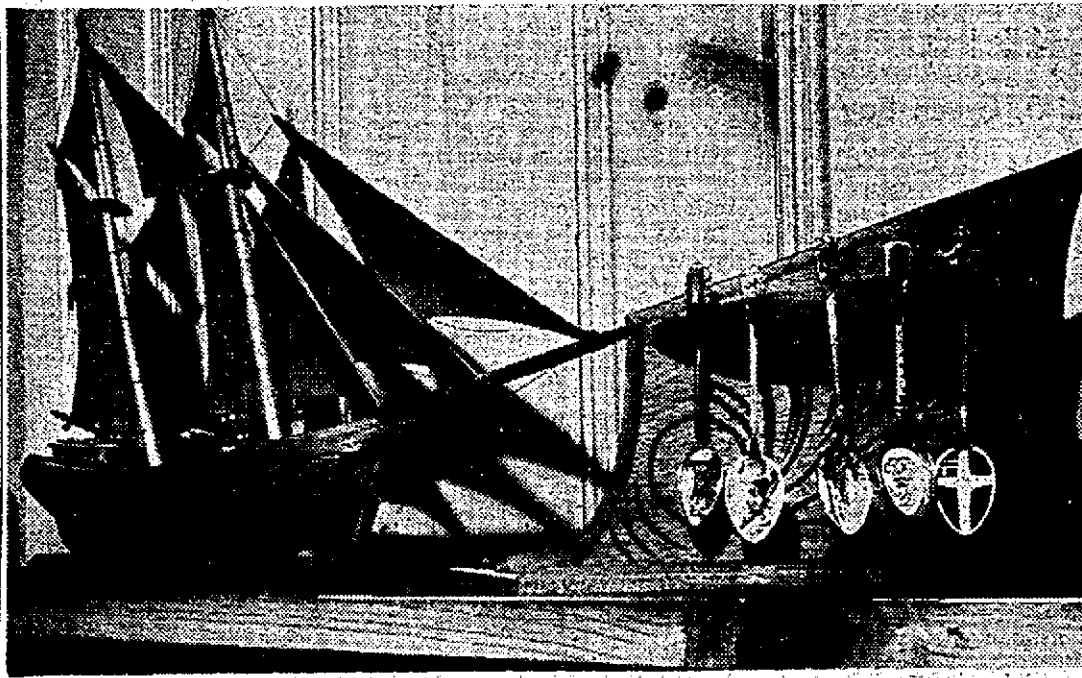

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a wide variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflet E-21, entitled "Model Notes," send 10 cents in coin to Dept. E. P., care of this newspaper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Residents Leave For European Trip

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Gehrke, 1102 W. Prospect avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bohl, 1201 E. Pacific street, and Mr. and Mrs. Emil Gehrke, New London, left Wednesday morning for a 7-week European trip. They will fly to Rome from New York and will visit Italy, Switzerland, Germany, France and England.

Bitter Membrane

When grating lemon or orange rind, grate off only the colored outside coating. Never cut into the white membrane, as this has a bitter flavor.

A pair of Hobbies, Ships and spoons, is represented on the living room mantle in the Williams home. Mrs. Williams' mother began the collection in the days when "everyone had a roll of spoons."

Catholic Women Set Conference Dates

The 45th annual conference of the Wisconsin Council of Catholic Women will meet May 11 and 12 in Racine. Mrs. Roy Spencer, Racine, is general chairman. She is being assisted by Mrs. P. J. Loeff, Manitowoc, conference program chairman, and by members of the Racine Catholic Woman's club, the Daughters of Isabella Racine Circle 50 and the Catholic Junior league. Mrs. R. M. Gerl, Manitowoc, is president of the Wisconsin council.

The Catholic Daughters of America, Ave Maria Court 1011, is affiliated with the WC-CW and will attend the meeting.

The conference will open with a business session at 9 a. m. on May 11. Bishop William E. Cousins, D. D., archbishop of Milwaukee, will officiate at the high mass at 10:30 a. m. and will address the delegate at that time. He also will be a guest at the noon luncheon.

Notary to Speak
Mrs. Orin Boeyink, Mosinee, public welfare chairman, is in charge of the afternoon panel discussion entitled "Under the Impulse of Charity." The speaker will be the Rt. Rev. John Donovan, ecclesiastical notary of the archdiocese of Milwaukee.

The Rev. Thomas A. Morrison, O. P., Chicago, will speak on "The Catholic Leader in the World of Pope John" at the 7 p. m. dinner meeting. Father Morrison is chairman of DePaul university's commerce department and vice chairman of the philosophy department.

The annual human rights breakfast will be held after the low mass and corporate communion on May 12. Mrs. John Gronowski, Two Rivers, human rights chairman, and Mrs. William O'Donnell, Madison, human rights consultant for the council, are in charge of the meeting. Mrs. Rebecca Barton, Madison, director of the Governor's commission on human rights, will address the group.

A roll call and reports of affiliated clubs, under direction of Mrs. George Ross, New London, organization chairman, will conclude the morning session.

Introduce President.
Mrs. Loeff, youth chairman, will preside at the annual Catholic Junior league luncheon and will introduce the state Junior league president, Miss Louise Marston, society editor of "The Wisconsin State Journal," will

Paul Gloss Appears in N. Y. Drama

Paul Gloss, son of Mrs. Sophia Gloss, 1924 E. Melrose avenue, is appearing in Sophie Treadwell's drama, "Machinal," at the Gate theater, off-Broadway.

Gloss is a graduate of Appleton High school and during the summers participated in the Peninsula Players' ventures. He also worked under Mrs. Ted Cloak in Attic theater.

"Machinal" was one of New York's dramatic hits in 1928, when its relationship to the famous Snyder-Gray trial of the previous year and its use of the expressionistic form to criticize a mechanized society made it popular and famous.

Gloss takes the parts of a card player and reporter. He is also assistant production stage manager. The drama, which opened April 7, is under the direction of Gene Frankel.

Hot Football Team Serves as Criterion for College-Bound Son

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My son is a high school senior and is now looking over various universities and colleges. He's a good student and could probably get into any school he selected.

The thing that bothers me is his judgment of schools by their athletic achievements. If a college doesn't have a red-hot football team he's not interested. I've tried to explain this is a poor criterion but he says it's the best way to tell if an institution is "on the tick."

The sharp schools, according to him, pay a lot of attention to their athletic program and get a winning team at all costs. It's smart public relations, he says, which influences the entire program. What do you say about this?—Know-Nothing Pop

DEAR POP: Robert Hutchins said it better than anyone — and I quote: "Football has the same relation to education that bull fighting has to agriculture."

DEAR ANN: I'm planning to break my engagement to a fellow who monopolized my life for five years. We started to go steady when I was 15 and became engaged three years later. I've never had a date with anyone else.

I won't go into detail but I'm sure he's a confirmed alcoholic and a pathological liar. I don't want to spend my life listening to lies and nursing hangovers.

Everyone thinks of me as Mickey's girl and I know it will take a long time before the word gets around that I'm available for dates. Could I hurry things along by placing a small ad in the newspaper?—Nick of Time

DEAR NICK: I dislike spoiling a sale for the classified ad department but I cannot, in good conscience, advise you to place an ad in the paper announcing a broken engagement. I hate to resort to this very tired joke, but if you want the word to get around fast—telephone, telegraph and telawoman.

DEAR ANN: I'm a middle aged business man and a widower. In my younger days I worshipped a young girl from afar but was too shy to make my feelings known. She married and so did I.

Twelve years ago my wife died. I'm still in love with the idol of my dreams and always will be.

Three years ago her husband died. She travels, entertains and is invited everywhere. Her husband's picture is in every room. She refuses to give him up.

She's still beautiful and desirable and could give a man great happiness, but she will not even accept a dinner date.

I know another widower who has tried to interest her but has failed, too. She loves to help others so if you could make her realize how much happiness she could bring to some lonely man it would bring her happiness, too. —L.W.

DEAR L.S.: Why don't you marry one of the thousands of eager widows who are searching frantically for a man and bring some happiness into her life? I'm sure the idea doesn't appeal to you and I don't blame you.

Marriage should be mutually rewarding. You wouldn't want a woman to marry you as a favor — in much the way she might lend you her car, would you? Well, get off your knees and find a woman who wants you at least as much as you want her.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Before You Marry — Is It Love Or Sex?" enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Subtly Shaded Paint Finishes—By You

There may be room in the budget for that glorious cabinet, or a new canopy headboard — if a worn chest and chair or two can be kept on duty awhile longer. The saving grace for old pieces might be paint, especially now that there's so much fascinating new furniture that's painted. But as subtly shaded finishes on new furniture show, there's often more to an effective paint rescue job than a coat of paint. The difference is an extra step — glazing — and it can be done by you.

Spare no pains to prepare the wood. Strip it if necessary. Surfaces must be smooth. But even a natural wood finish that is smooth sometimes can be readied for paint by cleaning with paint thinner and the dulling of gloss with steel wool or sandpaper.

The chalky look of some professional white and pastel finishes comes only with very flat paint, but enamel of the best quality (only quality products are worthwhile) needn't be glossy and is used because it wears so well. To apply it, follow the grain of the wood with a full brush, then with out reloading the brush stroke across the grain. Make the strokes light and long, then take a third step — tap the brush almost dry and stroke again with the grain to pick up excess that might run or sag. Enamel several test boards the same way to use for glazing experiment.

The glaze must be mixed, and the oil color selected for it may be raw umber, which gives white an antique look, blue a blue-green tone, pink a tinge of rose, yellow a brownish cast and turns red into a rich brick color. Burn umber produces a darker and slightly grayer effect. Raw sienna and yellow ochre are used to add golden tones and lamp black on dark paint makes it look aged.

Mix 1½ teaspoons of the glaze color with 3 tablespoons of turpentine, add 1 tablespoon of clear varnish and mix again. Now experiment with color and technique on areas of the enamelled test boards. Brush the glaze over an entire test area, wait a minute or two, then wipe it off in a circular motion with a clean, lint-free cloth. Start at center and work outward, and you may want areas next to moldings on actual furniture to be deeper than at center. Finish by stippling the glaze with a small, dry brush. The last of several tests may produce a decidedly better effect than the first, and plenty of confidence to proceed with the furniture glazing.

Make the job easier all the way by handling the furniture in the most convenient ways. Turn chairs and small tables upside down on a protected table top and enamel legs and under surfaces first. Drawers should be removed from chests and cabinets for the enamelling, but without the sureness of experience, it's a good idea to glaze drawers while they're in place, but pulled out slightly, after the glazing of the legs, sides and back of the chest is complete. Glaze on drawer fronts is more easily made uniform this way. Both enamel and glaze chest tops last.

Michigan Woman Wins Quiz

A twinkling-eyed grandmother from Detroit was today named the nation's outstanding feminine expert on cars and driving safety. Mrs. A. Marion Burgess, who learned about cars "by doing," outscored 23,000 American clubwomen in a 100-question, competitive examination on driving, auto maintenance and highway safety.

Prepared by Charlotte Montgomery, nationally known automotive columnist, the car quiz was taken by women's clubs and professional groups at their regular meetings. A winner from each participating club and from each state was also named. The national winner received a $1,000 savings bond; state winners each received a $100 savings bond; and club winners a specially engraved certificate honoring their achievement.

Mrs. Burgess, a hospital admitting clerk has driven accident-free for thirty years since teaching herself how to drive. She can perform such auto maintenance as changing tires, oil, battery and even generators but admits she "doesn't do too much of this any more."

Though still a housewife, Mrs. Burgess prefers driving to cooking. "I'd leave my housework in a minute for a trip in my car!" She drives an average of 200 miles a week "for gadding" and is currently trying to persuade a friend to take a long auto trip with her this year.

To keep up to date on her auto knowledge, Mrs. Burgess reads a great deal about cars. But the real source of her knowledge, she says, comes from experience. "I was always a tom-boy and loved to work on mechanical things. I've always liked driving and fixing cars."

SEAMS TO ME

By Patricia Scott

BY PATRICIA SCOTT

It's 9 p.m. and you're busily working away at your sewing machine. The telephone rings and it's your old friend John who would just love to drop in with Susan for a cup of coffee. Since he's only a couple of blocks away you tell him to come right along and you even sound delighted.

But, the minute you put the receiver down, you become hysterical. The machine is out—scissors, tape measure, threads and scraps are all over the place. Ten minutes to put everything away and you're not even dressed!

Does this sound familiar? I'll bet it does if you're not fortunate enough to have a sewing room. What can you do? You don't have a spare room or else you live in a small apartment. We professional sewers pompously talk of "order and precision while sewing" and "have all equipment at arms reach while sitting at your sewing machine."

A great help we are with our good advice, you might say. I agree, and apologize profusely for shamefully neglecting you.

I can't produce a sewing room for you, obviously, but how about a sewing corner? All you need is an empty corner of one of your rooms (I'm sure you can shift your furniture around) and a 3-panel screen. You can keep your sewing paraphernalia behind this marvelous hideaway.

How divine it is not to fold everything away each night, making a major project out of a simple skirt. And what a relief when the phone rings, to just move the screen and have all signs of chaos disappear.

You can buy a screen or you can have one made. It should be of plywood and peg board. Here's how to finish it. Cover the side facing your room with wallpaper (preferably washable) or if you're artistic, cover each panel with heavy-weight, non-woven interfacing fabric and paint a pretty but simple design. Use white or pastel-colored fabric and blend the colors to the color scheme of your room. Then paint the frame to coordinate, too. Choose your colors carefully. Any art supply department will tell you what type of paints to use.

Now for the functional side of the screen (see illustration). Face panels on each end with peg board and the center with a full-length mirror.

Buy peg board fixtures and hang up accessories such as scissors, tracing paper package, tape measure and pattern instruction sheet. If you use a cutting board, there are wide holders available to hold it when not in use. On shelf brackets, you can put a clear plastic box with pieces of current sewing, a thread box and a bobbin box.

The mirror? Use it! Don't try to get by with a half-length one.

Your sewing machine is always there, open when in use, closed when not. Extra fabrics, interfacing, linings, etc.—things you've accumulated for future use or picked up at sales—can be kept in a small plastic covered chest of drawers. Also, your hooks and eyes, small tools, zippers, snaps, etc. in your sewing basket.

Everything you need is at "arms reach" while you're working. What more could you want? You could want the ideal set-up, and you can have it, if the space is available.

That is, you can have your ironing board there too. If you do this, don't forget to see door or to the telephone.

Any art supply department will tell you what type of paints to use.

Now for the functional side of the screen (see illustration). Face panels on each end with peg board and the center with a full-length mirror.

Buy peg board fixtures and hang up accessories such as scissors, tracing paper package, tape measure and pattern instruction sheet. If you use a cutting board, there are wide holders available to hold it when not in use. On shelf brackets, you can put a clear plastic box with pieces of current sewing, a thread box and a bobbin box.

The mirror? Use it! Don't try to get by with a half-length one.

Your sewing machine is always there, open when in use, closed when not. Extra fabrics, interfacing, linings, etc.—things you've accumulated for future use or picked up at sales—can be kept in a small plastic covered chest of drawers. Also, your hooks and eyes, small tools, zippers, snaps, etc. in your sewing basket.

Everything you need is at "arms reach" while you're working. What more could you want? You could want the ideal set-up, and you can have it, if the space is available.

That is, you can have your ironing board there too. If you do this, don't forget to see door or to the telephone.

Our Children
Youngsters' 'Why?' Shows Interest in Life
BY ANGELO PATRI
Wouldn't it be sad if children never asked why? It would mean that they were living in a world of wonders without ever a thought to them, without so much as a question about them because they did not feel, could not care.
"Why" is an indication of life in the child's mind. It is a signal light that says, "I'm on my way to search out secret things and see what I can do with them."
This Why accounts for all the inventions, discoveries, the helps for mankind that have appeared on their long hard road to where they are today. It is the promise that we shall not stop on the road but travel on and on to find the answer to each Why, that illuminates a child's mind and continues to light it down to old age.
Answer Carefully
Of course it is trying to a busy adult to have a small voice at his elbow pipe up with, "Why is it raining?" Or, "Why didn't God make snow warm so I could play in it?" But impossible as these Why's can be to those grown dusty through the years, they must be answered carefully, without condescension, and briefly. It is possible to drown an idea with words, something too often done.
As the children grow older their questions should be referred to the reference books, the encyclopedia, dictionaries, so that they learn where to go for information and how to look for it.
It seems incredible, but it can be so, that there are children in the upper grades of elementary school who do not know how to look for a word in the dictionary, a number in the telephone book, because they do not know the sequence of the alphabet and do not know that this knowledge would be of the greatest help to them.
Teaching the alphabet and its use should begin in third grade and if not there home should take over and teach this useful tool.
Angelo Patri offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning child training. If you would like to have his leaflet "Uniforms are not Introductions," send 10 cents in coin to him, care of this paper, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N.Y.

A Lovelier You
By Mary Sue Miller

Fragrant Ways
If you are casting about for a finishing touch to a costume, try fragrance.
A scent, knowingly and individually. Just think of a rose without scent, and you immediately grasp the idea. Now that point is established, let's investigate the effective ways of choosing and using fragrance:
Select only those scents that complement your personality, type—youth or mature, insouciant or sophisticated.

When undecided, make a "patch" test by placing a drop-let on the inside of your wrist, letting it dry and then sniffing. It's a case where your nose knows.
Aim for a wardrobe of fragrances — perfume, cologne, purse flacons and skin sachet. That way, you get more service from fragrance than from a set of interchangeable separates.
Before applying a scent, consider its suitability to your costume and the occasion. Those sultry essences are best reserved for evening hours and attire.
For effective application, touch perfume or skin sachet to the pulse spots; spray cologne into the air and walk through the mist. Use neither too little nor too much. But for the sake of loveliness, do use fragrance.

The Door That Opens
BY CHARLES M. CROWE
"I Am the door."
— John 10:9
In the construction of the usual wooden door there are two sets of panels. These four panels are separated by long upright center board and a shorter horizontal board. These two boards form a cross. This standard plan for making doors did not just happen. It comes from a carpenter's guild in England in the Middle Ages which took as its motto the words of Jesus: "I Am the door!" They worked street, Kimberly; John C. Heilmann, 112 E. Eighth street, Kaukauna, and Joan M. Lieberman, route 3, Kaukauna.

Volunteers To Assist In Hospital
About 50 volunteer workers began this week to serve patients in Appleton Memorial hospital, after completing a seven-lecture course taught by Mrs. Margaret Preston, R.N.
The course is the first one sponsored by the Appleton Memorial volunteers. Although volunteers have been working in the hospital, this is the first time they will work directly with patients under hospital nurses.
The volunteers will read to patients, write letters for them, care for flowers, entertain patients and work in the admitting department from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. daily. On Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons they will help in the central supply department, which distributes medicine and equipment to various parts of the hospital.
Next fall, the volunteers hope to have another class to train people so the patient service program can be expanded to afternoon hours.

Orientation Set For Gray Ladies

The Ladies Aid society of the Congregational church will serve a noon luncheon in the church parlors.

This Is Appleton — Before Romanoff and Juliet

BY JEAN HAMMOND
There's no doubt that after the curtain rises on an Attic Theater production such as the recent Romanoff and Juliet that the play's the thing. But for an hour and a half before that, in a large, rectangular, many-mirrored room, it's the player who's king.
At 7 p.m. two or three actors and a group of stage hands already are in the makeup room. A young woman with shiny, clean, brown hair puts on a man's pink shirt stained with eye shadow and lipstick and theatrical tan. From a drawer she takes an assortment of bottles and jars and carries them to the place where a powerfully built actor sits in his trousers and undershirt. She opens one of the jars and puts some flesh colored makeup in the palm of her left hand. The actor holds up his face and she begins to make his fair skin tan.
Butterflies
"What's the matter?" she asks. "Got butterflies tonight?"
"Um hm," he replies, continuing to tap his fingers on the counter top. "More like elephants, I think."
"I hear you spend your summers in a national park," she distracts him. "What do you do there?"
"I'm a game warden," he answers. "What a beautiful place. I have Tuesdays and Wednesdays off. I fish. Hunt a little. And the woods are full of huckleberries."
At the end of the room, just inside the door three young college students acting as stage hands discuss mutual problems in mathematics and chemistry.
"Anybody got a knife?" a black-haired actress in pin-curls calls across the room. "This eyebrow pencil is as dull as Monday night!"
The actor with butterflies inspects himself critically in the mirror. "A little darker here, don't you think?" he points to skillfully drawn crowsfeet next to his eyes. The girl deepens the lines and the man strides off to the dressing room.

Others come. A tall statuesque brown-haired beauty, a black-haired actress in pin-curls calls across the room. "This eyebrow pencil is as dull as Monday night!"

The Collars!!
"Oh! I forgot the collars!" screams a woman in a black dress who has been sitting calmly until this moment. She grabs her coat and runs out the door.
By now everyone is present and their individualities have been tossed aside beneath greasepaint and bright lights. They begin to assume the characteristics of the roles they portray. Only the rising tone of their chatter betrays their nervousness and the closer it comes to curtain time the louder become their voices.
Then, over the intercom, a man announces, "Five minutes. Five minutes."
The noise stops abruptly and the group of actors becomes a single unit. The cast. Excitement and fright are buried deep within them; and one by one they step before the footlights to entertain their city.
This is Appleton. It's where we live.

Advocate 120-Foot East-West Carrier

Chamber, Planners Say Width Needed for Good Thoroughfare

The right-of-way width for a longer look at the future should be taken, to the day between the new College avenue bridge and Highway 55 when this entire area will be urbanized," he said.

Hammond pointed out the area along College avenue extended to Highway 55, south of Kimberly and Combined Locks, rapidly is being urbanized. Several new subdivisions are being planned south of Kimberly. "Some day the College avenue extension is going to be even a bigger traffic carrier than it is now, and a wider road is inevitable," he said.

Cheaper Now
The cost of right-of-way now will be cheaper than after buildings have been erected, it was pointed out. A city committee asked if the city's 80 feet, using curbs and storm sewers, would not be equivalent to the county's 120, using drainage ditches. The answer was "yes," but as surrounding area is urbanized the ditches will be replaced with curbs and storm sewers, it was noted.

The county could then put in a 36-foot roadway each direction, giving three traffic lanes each way if parking were banned. The city's width would carry two lanes each way without parking unless the terraces were reduced and the median strip eliminated. Reducing terraces causes a snow removal problem, it was pointed out.

Cost Problem
City representatives have spoken against the 120-foot width because the portion of College avenue that was formerly Candelee street is only 33 feet, curb to curb. To widen it would be costly, because houses and other buildings would have to be purchased. Empey pointed out the day when such things have to be done is already here. "You will never go wrong in providing wide streets," he said. "Experience every where has shown they usually are too narrow."

Post-Crescent Photo

Several County Roads are in very poor condition because of frost leaving the ground. This shows County Trunk A somewhat less than a mile north of Highway 41, where gravel has been dumped and spread to make the roadway passable. Even so, the ruts and soft earth results in most cars hitting bottom over the rough spots. Nearly all county roads have been posted with weight limits to prevent further damage.

City Directory Workers Begin Survey Monday

The Johnson Publishing company, Manitowoc, will begin canvassing Appleton Monday to obtain information for the city directory.

The 40 canvassers, wearing white lapel cards saying "City directory survey taker," will call at homes and business places. If no one is home when they call, they will leave forms to be filled out before they call back.

There are white forms for residences and blue ones for businesses. In addition, businesses will be asked to fill out a white slip for each employee. The directory, published every two years, lists names, addresses, telephone numbers, occupations, home ownership and other information for use of businesses and others.

The city directory survey has nothing to do with the federal census, also being taken this month.

Today's Deaths

Mrs. Mary A. Freund

Mrs. Mary A. Freund, 82, who lived with her daughter, Mrs. Ambrose Wagner, Stockbridge, died at 9 a. m. Thursday while being taken to Calumet Memorial hospital, Chilton, by the Schindler ambulance.

Mrs. Freund suffered a stroke and fell while returning from church Thursday morning. Oxygen was administered, but it failed to revive her.

She was born on Nov. 20, 1877, in St. Anna, where she lived until seven years ago. Since then she has lived with her daughters. She lived in Stockbridge the last three months.

Funeral services will be at 10 a. m. Monday at St. Anne Catholic church, with burial in St. Anne cemetery. Meisels Funeral home, Kiel, is making arrangements.

Survivors include six daughters, Mrs. Paul Miller, Chilton, Mrs. Oscar Meyer, St. Anne, Miss Mel Freund, Milwaukee, Mrs. Fred Sipple, Watkville, Mrs. Anthony Schaffer, Hilbert, and Mrs. Ambrose Wagner, Stockbridge; two sons, Prosper, Milwaukee, and Erwin, Plum City; one brother, Pete Stephany, Fond du Lac; one sister, Mrs. Tillie Wagner, Oshkosh; 28 grandchildren and 22 great-grandchildren.

Oscar L. Stokes

Oscar L. Stokes, 74, of 423 W. Seventh street, Kaukauna, owner of the Stokes Grocery store, Kaukauna, died at 5 a. m. today in Kaukauna after a short illness. He was born April 19, 1885, at Mitchell, Iowa, and operated the store since 1922.

Funeral services will be at 2 p. m. Monday at Kaukauna Methodist church. Friends may call at the Fargo Funeral home, Kaukauna, after 2 p. m. Sunday until noon Monday, then at the church until services. Burial will be in Highland Memorial park, Appleton.

Stokes is survived by his widow; two daughters, Mrs. Leslie Luckow, Forest Junction, and Mrs. Wesley Bevers, Appleton; two sons, Kenneth, Neenah, and Richard, at home; one brother, Arthur, of Mitchell, Iowa; one sister, Mrs. William Worth, Osage; and four grandchildren.

Laurel Ann Otteson

Laurel Ann Otteson, 4-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Otteson, 1731 S. Peabody street, died at 9:42 a. m. Thursday after a 6-week illness.

She was born in Appleton Dec. 6, 1939.

Funeral services will be at 2 p. m. Saturday at Trinity Lutheran church, with burial Oshkosh.

College Choir Will Present Concert

The 26-voice Miltonvale Wesleyan college choir, Miltonvale, Kan., will present a concert of sacred music at 8 p. m. Saturday at the Masonic temple.

The program will be sponsored by Appleton Youth for Christ. The group currently is on a concert tour through Wisconsin, Nebraska, Iowa and Minnesota.

It also will sing at a joint service at 6 a. m. Sunday at Christian and Missionary Alliance church.

Charge Reduced, Driver Fined $50

A charge of drunken driving against Eugene C. Nabbefeld, 32, of 215 E. Third street, Kimberly, was reduced to reckless driving on request of Corp. Counsel Raymond Dohr in municipal court today and charged six points.

Nabbefeld was arrested March 29 after county police found his car in the ditch near County Trunk Z in the town of Buchanan after the auto traveled 111 feet off the road.

Officers Elected By Franklin Mothers

Mrs. Lee Logan was elected president of the Franklin school Mothers club Tuesday. Other new officers are Mrs. Joseph Gregorius, vice president; Mrs. Arlin Schnell, secretary; and Mrs. Deris Kloes, treasurer.

The club will have a luncheon for teachers in May. The next meeting will be on May 10.

In Highland Memorial park, Friends may call at the Wichmann Funeral home from 7 to 9 p. m. today and at the church after 9:30 a. m. Saturday.

Surviving are the parents; three sisters, Debora, Kathleen and Rebecca Jean, all at home, and a grandmother, Mrs. Clara Otteson, Moorhead, Minn.

Diemel Services

Graveside services were held Wednesday at Oak Hill cemetery, Leeman, for Clifford Diemel, 50, who died unexpectedly at his home in Oshkosh Sunday. He was a former Leeman resident.

Diemel was born April 1, 1910 in Shiocton and was living with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Diemel. Funeral services were held Wednesday at the First Congregational church, Oshkosh.

Survivors besides the parents include a sister, Mrs. Elaine Dahlen and two brothers, Clyde and Glenn, all of Oshkosh.

Gets Reformatory For Stealing $424 From Employer

Glen J. Parker, 23, of 210 S. Rankin street, this morning was sentenced to a 1- to 3-year term in the Green Bay reformatory for stealing money and gasoline totaling $424 from his employer, the Zephyr Oil company, 801 W. College avenue.

Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmlegle cited Parker's record — ranging from petty thefts as a juvenile to drunken driving and driving after license revocation as an adult.

Parker juggled the firm's books, charging customer's gasoline and pocketing their payments, and absconded with the firm's funds. He surrendered in Washington, D. C., and was returned here by Sheriff Robert Heinritz and Detective Lt. George Behrendt.

Two Fined for Tippy Driving

Rural Clintonville Man Also Drove Without License

Martin R. McGlin, 47, route 2, Clintonville, and Berton F. Malnory, 38, of 509-A Highway 10, Oshkosh, have been fined on drunken driving charges.

McGlin was fined $150 on the drunken driving charge, and an additional $50 for driving without a driver's license.

He was arrested Thursday afternoon on Highway 78, one mile north of Highway 10, after a state patrolman noticed him drive across the center line of the road, back to his own side and then off the road.

McGlin tested .24 on the drunkometer. A reading of .15 is considered evidence of intoxication.

Malnory pleaded no contest in Oshkosh municipal court before Acting Judge Floyd D. Atherton. He was found guilty and fined $125.

Malnory was arrested 8:48 p. m. Thursday after his car struck a auto parked in front of his residence.

Both men will have their driver's license revoked for a year.

Denies Drunken Driving Charge

James L. Dauen, 33, of 214 Walnut street, Neenah, this morning in municipal court denied a charge of drunken driving and posted $125 bond for trial May 18.

Dauen was arrested by Appleton police about 12:40 a. m. Wednesday after they observed his car moving back and forth at the College avenue and Walnut street traffic signal.

He declined to take the drunkometer test.

Pay Hikes Sought for City Officers

First Since 1958; Would Add $2,000 To Annual Payroll

Appleton's city council will be asked by the finance committee Wednesday to raise the salaries of the mayor, clerk, treasurer, assessor and attorney. The committee also recommended approving the mayor's request to attend the national conference of mayors in Chicago, May 10 to 24, at city expense.

mayor, bringing the pay to $10,000.

The clerk, treasurer and assessor, who receive $7,400, would go to $7,800. The attorney would get $300 more, from $6,200 to $6,500.

This would be the first pay increase for the officials since February, 1958, and would cost the city $2,000.

A pay increase for aldermen also was discussed, but committee members decided the matter should be left until the new budget is made up.

The committee also recommended approving the mayor's request to attend the national conference of mayors in Chicago, May 10 to 24, at city expense.

A $500 hike is asked for the

Neenah Library Board Will Study Need of Addition

Present Space Inadequate for Meeting Demands of Community

Neenah — Present and future needs of the Neenah Public Library are now under study by the library board in order to determine, as accurately as possible, how large an addition will be necessary for its efficient operation and what form the addition should take.

The library board has been faced with ever increasing demands upon the services of the library and a corresponding increase in the size of the library's book collection.

Such a study involves carefully estimating the amount of space needed at present, adding to that sufficient space to allow for adequate growth in the future and enlisting the aid of an architect to plan the most efficient use of the space to be provided.

Since 1904 Service in the present building began in 1904. At that time the population was approximately 6,000. E. R. Kunert, librarian, said. The library had 1,854 registered borrowers and a book collection of 8,404 volumes with a circulation of 34,000 a year.

The library now is serving a community of approximately 20,000 which does not include the residents of the surrounding towns who, at this time, may still borrow books freely from the Neenah library.

There are now 10,095 registered borrowers, a book collection of about 50,000 volumes and a circulation of 273,000 a year. Although services have increased tremendously over the years, the library still is operating in the same amount of space available when it opened in 1904.

Until the increasingly crowded conditions made it impossible, the children's department was on the main floor, he said. Because of the library's growth it was moved to the basement. This temporarily eased the space problem but made the efficient operation of the library more difficult.

Now the children's department is again too large for its quarters as is the adult department on the main floor. The bookshelves are so crowded that often window ledges must be used for books.

At one time the library could offer the use of a meeting room for literary discussions and other community activities. This space now is by a car while she was on her way to school Thursday morning.

Work space in the library for both the public and the library's staff has been severely limited because of lack of space which also limits both the amount and variety of services which the library can give to the community.

Girl Slightly Hurt When Struck by Car

Oshkosh — Ann E. Hoffmann, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph O. Hoffmann, 131 Plummer court, Neenah, was treated at Theda Clark hospital and released after her bicycle was struck by a car while she was on her way to school Thursday morning.

Her bicycle was hit by a car driven by Jeramell O. Cummings, 77, route 1, Neenah, who said he was traveling slowly on Highway 114 when the girl turned left in front of him and he couldn't avoid hitting her.

It pointed out that no state or local board of education had testified before the congressional committee in favor of federal intervention while some have testified against it. The committee studied federal intervention in both area redevelopment and in aid to education, reviewing both viewpoints of proponents and opponents.

Proponents of the Douglas bill for area redevelopment contend the legislation is necessary to forestall depression and to promote the welfare of

Man Falls Trying To Enter Home Through Window

Menasha — A 34-year-old man, Lawrence Rivet, Milwaukee, was arrested after he fell 12 feet from a roof while attempting to enter through a window the apartment of his estranged wife on Kaukauna street about 8:30 Thursday night.

He is being held at Theda Clark Memorial hospital for observation of possible head injuries. His head hit the house steps when he landed. Several neighbors held Rivet until police and the Neenah ambulance arrived. The man was violent and ripped some cot covers in the ambulance en route to the hospital.

Police Chief Peter P. Clark said he would confer with the district attorney, welfare department and attending physician before making any statement. Rivet had entered his former wife's apartment on Ninth street. The extent of three times by the window her injuries was not immediately last May, police said.

4-3 Council Votes Approve Transfer Of Liquor License

Attorney Argues Denial Only Legal Because of Location

Menasha — Transfer of a class B liquor license, issued to Earl and Iris Peters, from the Brin building bowling alleys to 232 Main street, the present W-W Bar, was approved through two 4-3 votes by the common council Thursday night.

At the hour-long special session called only for the license matter, which had become "controversial," according to Mayor R. G. DuCharme, Atty. Charles Schaller argued that the council only might deny transfer because of location or suitability of premises.

His contention was supported by City Atty. William R. Giese.

Immediately after Peters' Brin alleys lease expired last August, Marcus Theaters, Inc., Brin building owner, began seeking control of the tavern license. Henry B. Tollette, Marcus' local manager, has pleaded with the council to deny the license transfer to Peters and reissue it for the Brin building, where he said the license was located for 30 years.

The first roll call vote was to accept the March 24 health and license committee recommendation to deny Peters' request. The second roll call vote was on the motion to approve Peters' license transfer. Voting against the transfer both times were Aids. John Klein, Paul Laemmrich and Fred Rohloff. Voting for the transfer were Aids. Louis Gamney, Gordon Schanke, Edward Stinski and Raymond Zielinski. Absent were Aids. Lee Rather, Fred Block and George Stip.

Based on Decisions Schaller's argument was based on several supreme court decisions, in which liquor licenses were established as property rights and therefore "a council may not act arbitrarily or capriciously. It must have a legal reason for not transferring a license."

In the March 24 committee minutes, Police Chief Peter P. Clark is said to have recommended the transfer be denied. Schaller said while the only usual reasons for denial of license transfers are location or premises, neither could apply since the W-W bar on

5 New Homes Approved for Menasha Town

Permit Issued for Commercial Building on Green Bay Road

Oshkosh — Permits for five new homes in the town of Menasha were issued this week by County Clerk Nell A. Hoffmann upon approval of the work by Edwin P. Harold, town assessor and building inspector.

A permit for a $2,000 commercial building on Green Bay road in the town of Neenah was issued to Sheldon Wilms, 320 Main street, Neenah. This project was approved by Laurel Heaney, town of Neenah chairman and building inspector.

Those who secured the new home permits were:

George G. Geurts, 751 DePere street, Menasha, $15,000 home on Linwood avenue.

Kasper Roth, route 2, Menasha, $16,000 home on Stead drive.

George Nemecek, route 1, Hortonville, $12,500 home on Bonnie drive.

Richard Zolkowski, 432 Second street, Menasha, $12,000 home on Tayco street road.

Neenah Man Gets Patent

William Strange Devises Bracing For Infold Carton

Menasha — A patent for an infold carton with corner bracing strut has been granted by the United States patent office to William M. Strange, Neenah, production development manager and secretary of the John Strange Carton Company, Inc., to which the patent has been assigned.

One of the problems with infold cartons has been a tendency to collapse at the corners when erected so that the side and end panels swing inward and do not remain upright.

Strang's invention is a corner bracing strut within the carton which will securely retain the side and end panels of the erected carton in an upright position. Use of the bracing struts makes no requirement for the making of holes in the bottom, side and end panels.

The arrangement is such that the strut in each corner of the carton automatically snaps into a substantially horizontal bracing position when the carton is opened and thereby prevents it from collapsing. The corner bracing struts also may serve to support a horizontal panel which divides the carton into an upper and lower compartment.

On the back bar is a stunning reproduction of a sailing ship. "I helped myself to this from my mother's attic," Mrs. Cheslock said. "Nobody seemed to be interested in it but me, and we could use anything down here."

Cheslock put sliding doors in the back bar and a drawer. "My husband is not a handy man and this is the first carpentry he has ever done. He enjoyed it, but I don't think he will try anything like it very soon again."

Playroom Popular
Cheslock's work bench is in another room. He has wired the radio outlets so they will serve both rooms.

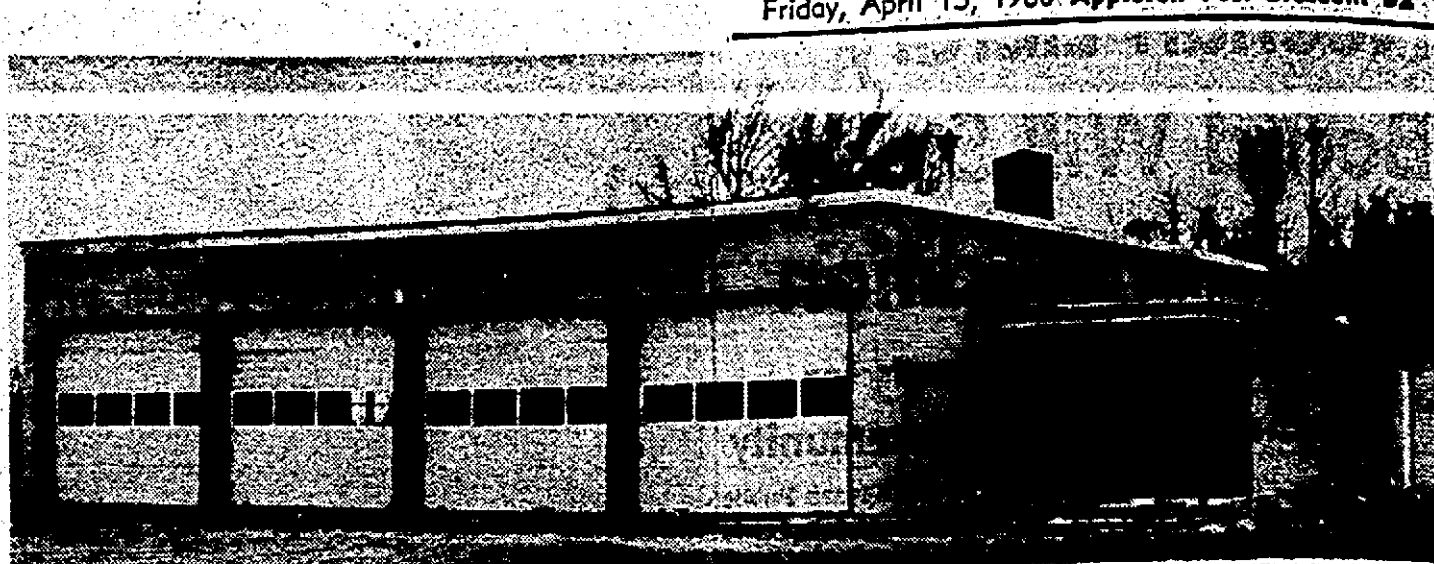

The Cheslocks' 9-year-old daughter and her friends use the playroom a great deal for all sorts of projects.

"It certainly takes a lot of strenuous wear and tear off the rest of the house," her mother said, "and they like to play down here because they can play pingpong and make all the noise they want to," which probably cost less than any other in the Twin Cities, proves once again what can be accomplished with a little effort and a lot of imagination.

Intake Pipe To End Water Basin Project

Pre-Treatment Unit Under Construction At Oshkosh Plant

Oshkosh — Extension of a 1,900-foot intake pipe into Lake Winnebago will complete work on the pre-treatment basin in Miller bay.

Strong winds Monday broke up ice in the bay and tore a 1,600-foot length of the pipe from its mooring in the middle of the bay, sweeping it against the west dike of the basin. The pipe was floated down the Fox river last fall but an early freeze halted plans to install it.

Contracts have been let by the city for a transmission water main from the water treatment plant to an elevated storage tank on Daves street, for a pipeline crossing the Fox river at State street, and for a three-quarter of a million gallon storage reservoir at the water treatment site, with construction on all three projects to begin this spring.

Storm Sewers
Work has begun on two storm sewer projects amounting to $124,000 on Merritt street and in the Campbell creek area.

Plans are being projected by the city engineering department for 7,000 feet of 12 and 16-inch water mains to serve the new industrial site on the city's southside, to be occupied this summer by Standard Coil Products.

Bids also are being taken on eight miles of sidewalk to be constructed in different parts of the city this summer.

Secures Permit for $16,000 Neenah Home

Neenah — Builders, Inc., received a permit from Building Inspector Carlton F. Williams for construction of a $16,000 house and garage on Congress street. The house will be 28 by 58 feet and the garage 20 by 24 feet.

The house is the 29th to be authorized in Neenah this year.

Outlines Soybean Use As Protein Supplement

Oshkosh — Use of soybeans, planted on relatively fertile soil which is mostly level as a protein supplement in dairy rations and also as a cash crop was outlined at a special interest meeting at the courthouse attended by farmers and seed dealers interested in soybeans and flax.

County Agent Vernon W. Peroutky commented that quite a number of farmers use soybeans at a rate of 10 per cent or less in the concentrate mixture for milk cows as a protein supplement.

The government price support for soybeans this year is $1.85 a bushel but the government has not purchased any because the general market price is higher, he said.

Ellwood Brickbauer, University of Wisconsin extension agronomist, discussed cultural practices, pointing out, based on trials at the Valders research farm over the last three years, the average has been 26 bushels of the Chippewa variety which is recommended for this area.

Another recommended variety is Grant which is for a later planting and the Norchiff. Soybeans should be

A 57 by 40-foot 1-story frame home with attached garage will be built at 604 Tenth street by Erwin Becker. Value is $12,000.

An $11,000 frame single-story home will be built at 824 London street by Robert Geiger. Dimensions are 32 by 44 feet.

Dealers said they would make available seeds of the recommended varieties but orders should be placed in advance. Some farmers around Winneconne and Omro have been planting soybeans for years, some of them using it as a cash crop in lieu of a decreased acreage for sweet corn and canning peas.

AAUW Tour to Include Some of Cities' Distinguished Homes

Neenah — Some of the most distinguished homes in Neenah and Menasha will be opened to the public for a "Home Beautiful" tour June 24 and 25. The tour, to be sponsored by Neenah-Menasha branch of American Association of University Women, is the first of its type in the Twin Cities.

Proceeds of the 2-day event will be used toward the AAUW branch quota for its national education center in Washington, D.C.

Preliminary arrangements for the tour were made Wednesday morning at the home of the general chairman, Mrs. James C. Jersild, 550 Chatham court. Mrs. R. H. Quade, itinerary chairman, announced the tour will include six or eight homes, which represent many different periods and styles of architecture.

Visitors will have an opportunity to view various rooms of these homes, where hostesses will act as guides and point out and explain articles of exceptional interest.

Other chairmen include Mrs. Charles Schuetz, tickets; Mrs. Robert St. Pierre, art work; and Mrs. Owen E. Lyons, publicity.

Proceeds Money collected through the tour will go toward the 16-story AAUW education center. It will house various departments of AAUW, which

Home Agent Tells How to Select, Cook Easter Ham

Oshkosh — Shopping and baking suggestions for Easter hams have been listed by Miss Lois Klusmeyer, county home agent.

If you select a whole ham, you can plan on three servings per pound. This also is true of the butt or shank half. The center slice has just the one round bone in it. For a family of six or more, a whole smoked ham is most economical. For a smaller family, the picnic shoulder or half ham would be most practical.

Whether the ham is labeled ready-to-eat, fully-cooked or cook before eating will give the clue as to how the ham must be handled.

Uncooked If it is labeled as cook before eating, it means the ham must be cooked to an internal temperature of 160 degrees. According to government regulations, regular or uncooked hams have been heated to an internal temperature of at least 137 degrees. They still require cooking before eating.

A ham that is labeled as ready-to-eat has been heated to an internal temperature of 137 degrees and then processed to be made more tender. At this point they are safe to eat, but their flavor and texture is better if cooked more.

Regular hams require 18 to 20 minutes per pound for whole hams, 22 to 25 minutes per pound for half hams. Ready-to-eat hams require 16 to 18 minutes per pound for the whole ham and 20 to 22 minutes per pound for the half ham.

If the ham says fully cooked or cooked, this may be served without further cooking. Usually when you serve a ham for dinner, you prefer to have it heated. Plan on 10 minutes per pound for a whole ham and 14 minutes per pound for a half ham.

In selecting a canned ham, you will find this type completely cooked. Follow the cooking time as given for the fully cooked ham.

The method of cooking is quite simple. Place the ham, with the fat side up, on a rack in a shallow roasting pan. Do not add water, do not cover, do not baste. Insert a meat thermometer into the thickest part of the meat. Roast at 325 degrees until the thermometer registers the temperature listed for each of the ham types you select.

Since Christ's Agony in the garden of Gethsemane legend says that lilies have bowed their heads in sorrow. The history of the Easter lily goes back into antiquity at least 3,000 years. It has been used as the flower of the Virgin as well as the cure-all for ills during the time of Elizabeth I. Flower arrangement by Mrs. William G. Kraemer.

Religious, Medical, Traditions Told of Stately Easter Lilies

BY MARION DREW

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Neenah — "Consider the lilies how they grow: They toil not, they spin not; and yet I say unto you, that Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like these."

The Bible makes many allusions to the lily. It is believed that the "lilies of the field" were crimson or purple, because of the reference to royal robes.

But long before the Bible was written it appeared in Homer's poetry; the bulbs were brought to Greece from Phrygia, Thrace and Macedonia. Pliny said the lily could be made crimson by steeping the bulb in red wine. It was said to have been in existence in 3000 B.C.

An Easter legend says that before Christ went into the Garden of Gethsemane the lilies held their heads proudly up to the sky, but when they saw his agony they bowed their heads in sorrow and never raised them again. Because of this legend many people send lilies on Good Friday instead of for Easter Sunday.

Emblem of Virgin

It was probably the Romans who brought the lily to England, as there is a reference to it in the writings of Chaucer. The lily was used in the writings of the Valley Inn at 5:30 p.m. Monday, April 25, on the technical screening applicants for the academy and about the academy itself.

the Venerable Bede (637-735). He made the lily the emblem of the Resurrection of the Virgin, the pure white petals signifying her spotless body and the golden anthers her soul glowing with heavenly light.

The association of this flower with the Virgin Mary dates from the second century when the doctrine of the Assumption was promulgated; the tradition being that when her tomb was visited three days after her burial it was found empty except for roses and lilies. The lily occurs as her emblem in pictures of the Annunciation from Simone Martini (1294-1344) to Burne Jones in the 19th century.

Essence of Religion Side by side with the veneration of the lily as a sacred flower and a mystical symbol pertaining to the very essence of religion, it was recommended also as a plant serviceable in physic and for the most prosaic ailments. These roots are good to break a boil," said William Lavson, sergeant surgeon to Queen Elizabeth. William G. Kraemer, also one of the court physicians, prescribed the juice of the bulb mixed with barley malt, to be baked into cakes and used instead of bread as a treatment for dropsy. The root "stamped with the honie, gleweth together sinews that be cut in sunder" and would cure "scaldings, valley and burnings without a scar/paragus."

Since World war II Easter lilies have been grown in southern states. Prior to that time our lilies were shipped from Formosa. After the attack on Pearl Harbor there were no Easter lilies in the United States for two years, until botanists experimented in the south. Today we have a harder and more luxuriant plant than those formerly imported.

Easter lilies will bloom again in the fall, if they are set out in the garden after the flowers have faded. If they are covered or brought in they will bloom again the following year.

Lilies are by far the most popular Easter plant and are used almost exclusively for church altars. Contrary to popular impression, the calla lily is not a lily, nor is the honie, gleweth together sinews that be cut in sunder" and would cure "scaldings, valley and burnings without a scar/paragus."

Fruit Jar Rings Get Tossed At Clothespins in This Game

BY CAPPY DICK

Pins-on-the-Line is a game you can play outdoors when the weather is good, or indoors when it is bad. The equipment needed is a clothesline, some clothespins and a dozen rubber-fruit jar rings.

When the clothesline has been put up, place 10 clothespins on it. They should be very close together, but the spacing between can be irregular.

The first player is given the fruit jar rings. He stands six feet from the clothesline and tosses them one by one, trying to land them on the clothespins.

Every time he rings a

Neenah Enters 9 Athletes in 23rd Madison Relays

Nominate Neubauer, Burton, Stilp for Individual Events

Neenah — Neenah will be represented by nine athletes in the 23rd annual Madison West relays Saturday at the Camp Randall Memorial building.

State Boating Registration Hits 100,000

200,000 Was 1st Estimate, Area Officer States

Neenah — Boat registrations, under the law which went into effect this spring, have hit the 100,000 mark, Alan D. Falston, assistant supervisor of the east central area law enforcement division for the conservation department, told the Neenah Rotary club at its Thursday meeting at the Valley Inn.

Falston said it was estimated that the figure would be about 200,000 which at $3 apiece would be $600,000 but it appears that many boats will be registered under the fleet plan, which is $5 plus 50 cents additional per boat.

The law enforcement official reported that $100,000 of the receipts is earmarked for local enforcement and administration of the regulations but it will be spread pretty thin because there are 71 counties plus municipalities which have to share in it.

Bonner Act The speaker explained that the federal Bonner act is the basis for the state regulation and any state which hasn't passed its own bill will find the federal government enforcing the Bonner act in it.

He added that there will be reciprocal agreements between states, pointing out that Illinois has a bill which is to go into effect within 40 or 45 days. He said Iowa hasn't made any arrangements so the federal law will be in effect in the Hawkeye state.

The conservation department speaker said that if the boat is sold the registration number stays with it and if a boater acquires a new vessel, he starts the same procedure, paying the $3 fee. If the registration is lost, the duplicate is $1.

Life Preservers Falston declared the greatest number of questions dealt with the article which states that the certificate of registration must be with the boat when in use and he expects it to cause quite a bit of trouble among livery owners.

He said that the section of the law which requires life preservers for each person in the boat will be rigidly enforced.

The speaker told that another section which may cause trouble is that which says that boats cannot be anchored in the traveled portion of the river.

Fines under the new law are up to $50 for the first offense and up to $100 for the second.

McClone to Speak at Marinette Dinner

Marinette—Ralph McClone, coach of St. Mary's state Catholic High school cage champions, will be one of the speakers at the Marinette Central High school athletic banquet Wednesday night.

Nate Harlan, coach at St. Thomas college, St. Paul, Minn., will be the main speaker.

School Record Holder Mowry Stilp, right, will be a Neenah shot put entry in the Madison West relays Saturday. Assistant coach Marlon Batterman is at the left and Dick Koehn, center. The Rockets will take nine boys, three in individual events and two relay teams, to the 23rd annual indoor event.

Titans Initiate Season Against Ripon College

Oshkosh — Coach Eric Kitzman's Oshkosh State college nine will initiate its season with a game Saturday at Ripon college.

Two Menashans, center-fielder Bob Karisny and shortstop Ron Dibelius, are expected to be in the starting lineup. Gordie Selbach may see action on the mound.

Kitzman has announced that Ken VanderVelden, former Kimberly High school athlete, has been named captain for the season. He succeeds Jim Lettenberg, who is still in school but who has decided to forego baseball this spring. VanderVelden has been the regular third baseman for the last two seasons.

1960 Activities on Agenda at Meeting of Neenah Church Wheel

Neenah—Eligibility, scheduling procedures, division assignments and special events will be among the items to be discussed by managers and Recreation department officials at the organization meeting of the Neenah Church league at 7 p.m. Monday at the Recreation building.

One of the principal topics is expected to be assignment of teams. Last season a new system of league organization was adopted by the managers and teams were divided into two divisions based upon the previous year's win-loss record.

Each squad played the other three teams in its division three times and the other division clubs once in the regular season. The round champions in each division then played a 1-game playoff for the league round champion.

The reason for this change was to attempt to equalize the strength of the teams competing.

The league was organized almost 20 years ago and in previous seasons played a split season. St. Paul is the defending champion.

Posts 202 Game To Sweep Honors In Women's Loop

Neenah — Viola Raether of the runnerup E and R team slammed a 550 series in the Thursday Afternoon Ladies Bowling league which closed its season at Muench's Recreation alleys. She also had the peak 202 game.

Betty Clow collected a 201 single and Betty Schneider rolled a 505 series for other honor scores.

Twin City Bottling (541-264) won the championship by a half game over E and R, which closed with a 54-27 mark.

Other final records included Gene's Bake Shop 43-38, Brecklin's Viking 41-40, Arcade 40-41, Hilda's Gift Shop 39-42, Stop and Go Tavern 37-43, Twin City School Supply 34-47, Keil and Werner 32-49 and Edgewater Paper 31-50.

Porath Quintet Takes Lead in House Tourney

Neenah — Porath Truckers of the Commercial league hold first place in Joe Muench's first annual house handicap bowling tournament with 2,854 pins.

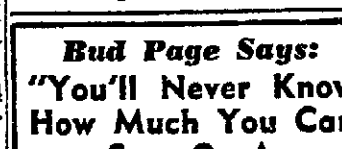

Foundry No. 1 of the Ladies City league is second with 2,812. Norm's City Service has 2,809, Foundry No. 2 2,728 and Holz Sewing Center 2,703. The latter three are from the Commercial loop.

High individual totals include Don Christensen, Commercial league, 628, Delores Bylewski and Helen Reblitz, City league, 226-566 and 553, respectively; and Rex Clow, the leading 233 game.

The tournament is open only to teams sanctioned at Muench's and the rules state that bowlers competing in more than one league can bowl as many times as they are registered in the various circuits.

TURLEY MENASHA

Rockets Open Season With Two Games Against Algoma

Neenah Attempts to Avenge Last Year's Twin Bill Loss

Neenah — Coach Joe Braun, who last year won both games last year to move ahead in the series.

The Wolves copped last year's initial game 4-1 as Jensen and Dave Heller were victims of shoddy support. Neenah committed four errors and three fly balls which should have been caught fell in for hits.

Neenah registered a 5-6 record last year, including 4-3 in the Mid-Eastern conference. Goetz was the leading hitter with a .313 mark. Of the returning pitchers, Hensen had a 1-1 mark.

Lettermen are expected to hold down most of the starting spots. The veteran coach expects his club to do well defensively and it should be a fair hitting club. The big question mark is the pitching department where graduation took Don Jensen, one of the area's best a year ago.

Starter Not Set Braun won't announce his starter until just before game. He has six boys bidding for the mound berths and all are expected to see at least a few innings of duty in the two games.

The starters will be chosen from Don Althaus, Tom Hensen, Bill Fahrenkrug, George Steffensen, Mory Handler and Bill Braun. Althaus, Hensen and Handler saw limited mound action last year while the other three gained some experience in the summer leagues and have been converted from other positions.

Mitch Miller, a converted outfielder, will be the starting catcher. Dan Zehner and Dan Murphy are other receivers.

Braun or Jim Sauby will play first base, George Goetz is the shortstop and Jim Salter, a sophomore transfer, probably will start at third base. Braun is undecided as to whom his second baseman will be. He has several candidates, including Althaus and Hensen, who shared the position last year.

The outfielders will be chosen from Palmer Sell, Fahrenkrug, Steffensen, Larry Tesch, Jan Pollnow and possibly some infielders who also double as outfielders. Another outfielder, Pete Millar, is away on the senior class trip.

4-3 Council Votes Approve Bar Transfer

Main street already is licensed and was suitable at last license issue time.

Schaller warned that if the council failed to grant the license transfer to his clients, he might take the issue to court, where he said the council's action certainly would be set aside and invalidated.

"Each year when licenses are renewed, the chief of police must make recommendations. He had no objections last spring. What happened between last May and last August?" Schaller queried.

"If Peters loses his license for a violation, he can't go into that business for 10 years in the city of Menasha. If there was trouble he should have been prosecuted."

"Hearsay Evidence" Later, Schaller reminded the council the license now issued for the street-level tavern in the Brin building could cover liquor sales in the bowling alleys downstairs. The city attorney said he had been advised Thursday by the state beverage tax division.

"In 1955 someone was seen coming out of the alleys after hours. Why was there no conviction? If the premises present such a problem to your chief of police and he does not know how to go about finding out about them, he shouldn't wait until years later to tell of them," said Schaller.

Concerned with Building Ald. Schanke, chairman of the health and license committee, told the council he had checked police records and found two complaints, in September and November, 1955, but no prosecutions. The council, Schanke went on, has been concerned with the continued operation of the Brin building.

Tollette said if the Marcus firm and Peters had licenses it would be agreeable to him. "But I don't believe the upstairs tenant would consent to our using his license for liquor. He has done very well selling liquor last winter because we didn't have a license downstairs."

Tollette said the Brin management would install about $150,000 worth of equipment, including automatic pinsetters. He concluded, "I hope something can be worked out so both of us can get licenses."

Giese advised the council that character and fitness without convictions or other evidence cannot be considered in a license transfer but only at license issue time. The council reissued the license four times since the last alleged incident. "I don't see on what is presented here that the council has much legal choice but to grant the transfer."

Then the council took its two votes, first disapproving the minutes, then approving the transfer.

Expect Trees For 4-H FFA Groups April 22

Junior Leaders To Hear Holland Exchange Student

Oshkosh — Members of 4-H clubs and FFA groups getting trees for spring planting can expect delivery on Friday, April 22, unless weather conditions disrupt this schedule, Clarence Westfahl, county 4-H club agent, said today.

Present plans are to pick up the trees at the nursery on Thursday, April 21, and to deliver them the following day.

Miss Kristine Melis, an exchange student from Holland, will speak to the next county-wide junior leaders meeting at the courthouse lounge room at 8 p.m. Tuesday, April 26.

Club members are being reminded to make plans now for the county 4-H camp at Camp Anokijig June 16 to 18. The cost per camper is $7.25 plus $1.50 for round trip transportation. There is no limit on the number attending.

A county-wide 4-H roller skating party is being sponsored by the leaders association at the Westward Ho on Highway 110 at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, April 21.

Tullar 4-H club has scheduled a meeting for 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Tullar school.

Menasha Man Gets Divorce

Oshkosh — Thomas J. Calder, 405 Nassau street, Menasha, was granted a divorce from Naomi Calder, 113 Milwaukee street, Menasha, on a cruel and inhuman treatment charge in county court Thursday afternoon.

The wife received the couple's home on Milwaukee street, household goods and furnishings and an automobile. He is to pay their indebtedness, $1,000 before May 15, $500 in $50 monthly payments and attorney fees.

They were married Nov. 27, 1948, in Menasha and divorce action was begun on Dec. 11. There are no children.

Found Guilty of Hit-Run Driving

Oshkosh — Fred W. Sole, 40, of 725 Randall street, Appleton, was found guilty of hit and run and driving without an operator's license by Acting Municipal Judge Floyd D. Atherton Thursday afternoon.

Sole was fined $50 and costs or a total of 25 days in jail. He was committed to the county jail. The Appleton driver was arrested April 11 on Highway 41 in the town of Neenah after his car struck another vehicle and left the scene. He pleaded innocent at his arraignment Monday.

Politics Involved In Treasury Bonds

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Would you like to buy a U.S. treasury bond giving you 4 1/2 per cent interest annually and not due for 25 years at a little less than 100 cents on the dollar?

Go ahead. Call your broker. Call your banker. Put in your order. If you can put up at least $500 — the bonds aren't available in smaller denominations — you can buy as many as you wish.

No one is squeezing you out. No one is discriminating against you because you're not a professional in the bond market, aren't aware every time the treasury offers a new security.

Once issued, U.S. treasury bonds go on the list, are traded in the market every day, are available in any volume to all who are interested — individuals, funds, financial institutions.

High-Level Politics
This is not just practical information. It is high level politics, part of a new wrangle between Treasury Sec. Anderson and Illinois' Democratic Sen. Douglas.

On April 4 and 5 the treasury put on sale ("opened the books") to a new offering of 4 1/2 per cent bonds due in 1985. It marked the first issue of bonds since the spring of 1959, and it was front-page news because it carried a 4 1/2 per cent coupon — within the interest rate ceiling which Anderson has been imploring a congress to remove and which so far Douglas has successfully fought to retain.

When the treasury counted the subscriptions it had received, it found it had obtained orders for $370 million — a hefty amount, but a disappointment to the treasury which had hoped for sales of at least $500 million.

At that point, Anderson seized on the results to say that it proved suggestions that the treasury could raise any substantial amount of money at a rate of 4 1/2 per cent "were not well founded."

Whereupon Douglas came right back with a statement that if the treasury had given "adequate notice" to the special types of investors who would have wanted the bonds, it could have sold a lot more.

Hardly Fair
Well, this time Douglas' criticism was hardly fair. Between the announcement of this offering and the closing of books on subscriptions was an interval of five days. On not one issue the treasury has sold since World War II has the interval been longer than six days. Institutional investors who wanted this type of bond knew about the 4 1/2 per cent offering. There were persuasive reasons why the treasury didn't keep the books for subscriptions open longer than two days.

Perhaps on future bond offerings in stable, sure markets, the treasury may give more notice, accept subscriptions for a longer period of time. If you don't buy a bond during the days of its formal sale, you can buy it in the market immediately thereafter. Maybe a tiny premium but to the investor the extra demanded will be of no importance.

In this particular instance the 4 1/2 per cent bonds sagged a bit after they came on the market. If you want them now, you can get them at a lower price than you would have had to pay on a subscription.

If you do buy, though, remember you're taking a market risk. Your bond will go down and up in price — at times violently — before it finally paid off at 100 cents on the dollar. If you understand this fully, want the bonds,

Prince Andrew Takes 1st Trip

London — Infant Prince Andrew took his first trip into the world outside Buckingham Palace today. Snuggled in the arms of his nanny, Mabel Anderson, Queen Elizabeth's 7-week-old son was driven from the palace where he was born to Windsor castle, 23 miles away.

A detective sat in the front seat of the black limousine. Prince Andrew will spend his first Easter at Windsor with his parents, the queen and Prince Philip, and his brother and sister, Prince Charles and Princess Anne.

Baby Sitter Abductor Gets 5 Years in Prison

Madison — A term of five years in Waupun state prison was ordered Thursday for Arnold C. Riddle, 25, of Madison, convicted of abducting an 11-year-old baby sitter last December.

Sentencing in superior court followed a 60-day examination at Central State hospital, which found him not to be a sex deviate.

Dane County police found the girl in Riddle's car Dec. 7. She said she was abducted while caring for younger brothers and sisters.

Insulation, Storm Windows, Blower Overcome Drafts

More Than Just Good Heating System Needed for Room Comfort

Many people wonder what causes drafts and chilly rooms in winter. They know that a good heating system usually can cancel them out. But sometimes even an expensive heating system doesn't overcome the discomfort of drafts. Perhaps you have noticed that when your blower is delivering air, the warm air is mixing and circulating throughout your home and even temperatures are maintained in all rooms. However, when the blower goes off, the air in the rooms begins to stratify, and that's when the "cold-floor" problem starts. Cold air naturally seeks a low point, while all the heated air rises. The result is uneven temperature and discomfort.

The answer is to set your system for continuous air circulation. The constant delivery of air from the diffusers thoroughly absorbs air entering at outside walls and windows and forms a homogeneous mixture which will not separate into layers of varying temperature.

Don't be concerned about the effect upon your electric bill. The starting windings of a blower motor use many times more power than that required to keep it running. So with fewer starts and stops, your electric bills will be lower. Your walls, windows and doors are the most common cause of drafts and chilly rooms. Cold walls make you feel chilly due to the loss of body heat from your skin (by radiation) to the cold surfaces around. The colder the walls, the greater the heat loss from your body and the greater your discomfort. You begin to feel discomfort when the inside surface temperature of your walls falls below 65 degrees. Pronounced discomfort occurs when they fall below 60 degrees.

Insulation Helps
The antidote for cold walls is to have enough insulation. In general, two to three inches of bulk wall insulation are needed to prevent the walls from getting colder than 65 degrees when the outside temperature drops below zero degrees in winter.

The lack of wall insulation also causes what is called the "cold 70 degree" problem. A house is uncomfortable even though the thermostat thermometer says it is 70 degrees indoors. The air temperature is warm enough for comfort, but satisfactory wall temperatures, the second necessity for full comfort, are lacking.

You can usually tell if the walls of a house are too cold by means of a simple test. During cold weather, hold the palm of your hand against the wall surface. It should feel no colder to the touch than an interior partition, or else it is losing valuable heat to the outside. If the walls are cold to the touch, insulation generally can be blown into them.

Windows, Weatherstrip
Storm windows are the obvious answer to the problem of heat loss through single-pane glass windows.

Cold air leakage into a house through small cracks around door and window frames often causes the biggest draft problem. Good weatherstripping can reduce cold air infiltration to an astonishing degree—over-all fuel savings as high as 24 per cent can result.

Importance of Steel
Theoretically, a house could be built with a minimum of steel. It would have two serious disadvantages: the house would have less usable space because the steel substitutes would have to be very bulky to approximate the strength of steel; it would be prohibitively expensive, because steel cannot be approached by other metals in economy.

New Preservatives Protect Sunken Wooden Sand Box

One of the finest ways to keep the small fry outside in all, but bad weather is to lure them with a sand box.

Many home-owners have had poor luck with sand boxes. Either they have been so large that the bottoms have buckled or the wood has rotted, resulting in the box's gradual collapse. The sight of sand strewn across the lawn or driveway is not calculated to please other parents or to inspire them to create a similar monster in their own yards. A good solution is a sunken sand box.

Thanks to new preservatives available today you can build a recessed sand box of ordinary lumber and not worry about its holding up.

Any of the western pine region species of wood is a good choice, because they all are economical, particularly in the common grades that are perfectly suitable for this sort of project. The ends of all lumber should be soaked in the preservative and all the other surfaces painted thoroughly with it before you build the box.

Start by measuring off the area your sand box is to cover and digging the whole thing out to a depth of six inches. Boards measuring 1 by 8 inches are good for both the sides and seats. Cut them to fit and butt them together at the four corners. Then drive 2 x 2 inch stakes into the ground outside your rust marks to prevent further weathering to the chassis.

Check For Mice
If you've stored your window unit in the basement during the winter: Make sure rodents, bugs etc., haven't gotten into the interior of the unit. Often mice will build their nests in the warm, dry insides. When installing, tip the unit slightly to the outside to assure proper water drainage toward the condenser coil. And if you have 115-volt unit, check the line to see that during the air conditioner's absence you haven't added additional electrical appliances, thereby reducing power.

Better Lighting

If homes of today are better than ever, it is probably because the lighting in them is vastly improved. "Since 1954, the number of lighting fixtures in the average 1,200 square-foot home has risen from nine worth $32.15, to 12.2 worth $50.00," according to the American Home Lighting Institute.

Thilco Issued Permit for New Shop Building

Work Underway on $100,000 Structure in Lower Mill Area

Kaukauna — The Thilmany Pulp and Paper company has issued a building permit by Lothar Kemp, building inspector, to construct a $100,000 building to be used for Lower Mill maintenance shops.

Work on the structure, being built by the C. R. Meyer Construction company, is well underway and the building is expected to be completed about May 1. Present shop location will be utilized for a new recovery boiler.

Building Size
The 320 by 50-foot building will incorporate about 16,000 square feet of floor space. It is a single story structure, 23-foot high with a smooth surface roof. It will be without a basement and of cement block and steel construction. The structure floor plan is actually L-shaped with space provided for about 100 lockers in a separate room. Departments to be housed in the building include construction, welding, paint, pipe, electric, machine and millwright. Half walls of concrete blocks, about 6-feet high, will separate the various shop areas and an overhead crane will be able to move the entire length of the building to provide service to all of the crafts.

Offices for each department are also planned. An old lime kiln had to be demolished to make room for the new structure.

Rural Appleton Man Fined $25 For Hit and Run

Kimberly — Edward D. Belongea, 29, route 4, Appleton, pleaded guilty of hit and run driving when arraigned before Albert J. Van Alphen, police justice, Wednesday night and was fined $25.

Revocation of driving privileges was held open for 180 days providing the man is not arrested for a moving traffic violation within that time. Belongea struck a parked car on April 5 and was arrested by police after investigation.

Leslie W. Kasten, 16, route 1, Menasha, pleaded guilty of reckless driving when arraigned before Van Alphen and had his driver's license revoked for 180 days.

sition has been removed from the elective slate. Plans were made to start monthly meetings of the entire organization, the first tentatively set for May 24.

The secretary was authorized to start regular printing of the "Pete Progress" letter which keeps members informed of Chamber activities, business news and reports on coming activities to promote the city.

Welcome Signs
A committee was appointed to meet with the Thilmany Pulp and Paper company and representatives of the city to discuss the type of welcome signs to be erected at main approaches to Kaukauna.

Directors voted to undertake a study of ways to promote and advertise the city, not only through Chamber of Commerce work, but through cooperation with businesses and industries of the city. Directors discussed ways in which the results of the 1960 census could help the organization in setting up programs or planning for future growth.

A wash-job will cost $1 and a wax and waxing job will cost $5. Owners must deliver and pick up their own cars.

Kimberly Firemen Prepare for Influx of Men at Fire School

Kimberly — Preliminary plans for the annual Northwestern Wisconsin fire safety school units to be held at Kimberly June 5 were discussed at an organizational meeting of the steering committee Wednesday night.

Approximately 200 volunteer firemen representing 32 units from Algoma west to Shawano and south to the towns of Neenah and Menasha and east to Stockbridge and Chilton are expected to participate.

Competition Set
W. E. Clark, Madison, supervisor of fire service training for the state board of Vocational and Adult education, was on hand to help set up the day's program. Ten phases of practical instruction were set up and from these Clark will attempt to line up about six instructors to handle specific programs.

Trying Out the Houseboat he built in spare time during the winter months is Roy Rupert. The craft was launched at the landing of the Kaukauna Boat club and the owner is working out final kinks before taking it to the Wolf river for a fishing cruise. He is pictured giving a few youngsters a ride on the shake-down cruise.

Kaukauna Man Launches Houseboat Made This Winter

Kaukauna — Spring-like from a center steering position on the platform. It is weather led to the launching of the "Buddy Boy," a houseboat built by Roy Rupert, operator of a welding shop here, as a winter project.

Rupert noticed a houseboat similar to his at Milwaukee and expressed interest in buying such a craft. The salesman, eager to make the sale, furnished Rupert with detailed sketches and complete information on the boat.

As he studied specifications, Roy thought he would try his hand at building his own. Working in spare time for the last three months, he managed to complete enough of the craft to take a test cruise.

The houseboat is built atop two black metal pontoons, 19 inches in diameter and 20 feet long. An 8 by 16-foot platform was welded onto the pontoons and around the platform a 32-inch railing was welded into place.

State Congressmen Blast Suggestion of Hiking Cheese Import

Every Pound of Foreign Product Adds To American Dairy Surplus, Men Say

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

Washington — Two Wisconsin congressmen blasted the tariff commission's recent recommendation to the president that import quotas be doubled on Gouda and Edam cheese and appreciably increased on Italian-type cheese during a time when milk is a surplus commodity, and when dairy products are under federal price support.

"Every pound of foreign cheese replacing American cheese which otherwise would be sold here contributes to the over-all milk surplus," Rep. John W. Byrnes, Green Bay, declared.

Stressing that he had "repeatedly expressed this view to the administration" (agriculture department), Byrnes said he strongly "regretted the action of the tariff commission" in raising the annual quota of Edam and Gouda cheese from 4,600,200 pounds to 9,200,400 pounds and increasing the quota for Italian-type cheeses from 9,200,100 pounds to 11,500,100 pounds annually.

Mass Contradictions
Rep. Melvin R. Laird, Marshfield, said that the report filed by the commission on its recommendation was a "mass of contradictions and glaring inconsistencies."

The tariff commission's report, filed last week is the outgrowth of a hearing late in November when representatives of the Wisconsin cheese industry and members of congress urged that the commission refuse the department of agriculture's request that the cheese quotas be increased by 50 per cent.

Appearing at the hearing at that time were representatives of the Wisconsin Cheese Makers' association, Plymouth; Stella Cheese company, and L. D. Schreiber and com-

4 Farm Organizations Plan Record Dance

Chilton—The Future Farmers and Future Homemakers of America along with the Calumet county 4-H junior leader and older member organization are jointly sponsoring a record hop in the high school auditorium April 20.

Dancing is from 8 to 11 p. m. and admission is 35 cents. An Appleton radio station disk jockey will emcee.

Farmers Have Top Cow

Biese Brothers Head List in Outagamie DHIA

The Biese Brothers, route 1, West DePere, had the high cow with 126 pounds of butterfat in the Outagamie central DHIA during March.

Other high producing cows and records were owned by Krahn Brothers, route 1, Seymour, 103 pounds; Robert Oudenhoven, route 2, West DePere, 101; Leo Schampers, route 2, Kaukauna, 96; William Griffiths, route 2, Black Creek, 95, and Robert Paltzer, route 3, Appleton, 94.

More are Outagamie county farm, 94; Dallas Goerl, route 1, Black Creek, 93, and John Kelly, Medina, 93. Three tied for 91 pounds are John Kluge, route 2, Black Creek; Bert Weyenberg, route 3, Appleton, and Robert Paltzer, route 3, Appleton.

Owners of the 10 high cows completing 305-day lactation periods during the month were Cyril Letter, route 1, Black Creek, 684 pounds butterfat, 17,490 pounds milk; Bert Weyenberg, route 3, Appleton, 673 fat, 18,750 milk; Outagamie county farm, 610 fat, 16,720 milk; Norman Maass, route 3, Seymour, 602 fat, 12,850 milk; Chester Appleton, route 2, Kaukauna, two at 591 and 564 fat, and 16,780 and 18,940 milk; Len Voigt and Sons, route 1, Shiocton, 573 fat and 16,480 milk, and Ing Vegoe, route 2, Black Creek, three with 593, 560 and 557 fat and 19,800, 14,970 and 17,410 milk.

Added Cash Crops Urged for County

Soybeans, Flax to Replace Income Lost by Closing of Cannery in Calumet County

Brillion — Raising flax and soybeans as cash crops in Calumet county was discussed by farmers, University of Wisconsin specialists and seed and mill dealers here.

Both crops were introduced in an attempt to replace income which will be lost because of the closing of the Dundas cannery.

The two crops would give farmers greater diversification, Orrin Meyer, Calumet county agent, said.

Elwood Brickbrauer, crop specialist, led discussions.

Flax Fell Off

Flax production was once high in the county. It fell off as the western states started with higher yields and a support price on the crop was removed.

Brickbrauer told farmers soybeans could bring a yield of 30 bushels an acre at $1.80 a bushel or $54 an acre. Flax yields range from 12 to 13 bushels an acre at $3 to $2.75 a bushel for an average price of $55 an acre, he said. The county can do better than that with flax, he added. It can raise up to 20 bushels an acre with good management. Flax straw can be sold at $13 a ton.

Preparation Important

Soybeans are used for a protein meal for cattle feed and the oil for oleo. Flax straw goes into a high-grade writing paper, linseed oil and a protein meal.

Seed bed preparation was cited as an important measure.

Alex Stichen Sells Navarino Farm to Norbert Hein Family

Navarino — Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Hein have purchased the so-called Berndt Anderson farm north of the Evangelical Lutheran church from Alex Stichen. Stichen's tenants, the Marvin Hillsberg family, will move to a farm southwest of Black Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Beverly Pues have purchased a farm on County Trunk M southwest of Leeman.

The Hans Kvale family have purchased the William Newman estate at Briarton and will take possession after their home in Navarino is sold.

Follow Rules For Spraying Farmers Told

Stop Cranberry-Type Scare, Specialists Say at New London

New London — Farmers were warned to follow directions on all herbicides and insecticides before application to avoid another "cranberry-type" scare.

Some 50 farmers from Wau-paca and Outagamie counties turned out for a sprayer school conducted by Ellsworth Fisher, entomologist and Don Peterson, agronomist, both of the University of Wisconsin.

Read the fine print on all spray packages, the men warned. If a farmer is not sure of the procedure for the chemical he is using, see a dealer who sold it or an extension agent.

Farms should have power sprayers for weed and insect control on all field crops grown, the men said.

Recommendations were: Use fogging to control flies in dairy barns, and one ounce of any aldrin, heptachlor, dieldrin and lindane on all seed corn. Dowpon at five pounds to the acre should be used for quack grass control.

Fields should be sprayed as soon as machines can be driven on them. This is a departure from recommendations of other years.

Altrazine was recommended for weed control on corn plots before the crop breaks through.

Volunteer Varieties May Turn Out Wild

Volunteers in your flower garden are the plants that come up from seed fallen from last year's blooms. There's a strong temptation to let these plants grow and bloom, just to see how they turn out.

While some volunteers make good flowers, the chances are not too favorable, since they are likely to revert quickly to unimpressive wild forms.

State Fair Fate Stalled Until Fall

Madison — The Wisconsin board of agriculture has decided to wait until October before deciding what should be done about the state fair setup.

The board took under advisement two plans to move the 110-year-old fair from its West Allis location. The 1960 fair is scheduled at the West Allis grounds Aug. 19-28.

One plan would set up a state exposition center on a new square-mile site in the Milwaukee area. The $16 million center would be operated year-around by a Wisconsin exposition authority.

The other plan provides development of a $6-million layout in the Madison area with the University of Wisconsin responsible for its operation. It would emphasize a year-around youth program.

Any state fair changes would require approval of the legislature and the governor. This approval also would be needed for sale of the present site. The department estimates the West Allis grounds and buildings could be sold for about $6 million. Buildings at West Allis are run down, space is limited and backers contend the facility should be used more than the few days the fair is held.

No Excuse for Poor Milk From Any Barn

There's no excuse for poor quality milk from any type of barn. A good dairyman can produce high quality milk in stall barns, loose housing systems or in a wide variation of combinations thereof.

A dairyman should make his choice of housing on the basis of other factors than quality milk alone. It is the methods of operation that are faulty more often than the type of housing.

The elevated stall milking room is good. In such an operation cows walk into the "milking parlor." Here the cows' udders can be washed with fresh, warm water. A short and sanitary milk and bulk tank team up well for quality milk production. The dairyman also has a pleasant place to work. He can check his cows and feed them concentrates according to production.

This milking parlor system is often teamed up with the loose housing barn system.

Loose housing cows kept clean and healthy in an experiment. Exercise and fresh air privileges were regularly used even on the coldest nights and in the stormiest weather. The loose housing herd gained 30 pounds more weight each winter than those in the stall barn. The stall barn herd had more serious health disorders.

A dairyman in the future

may not do his own milking, as is now traditional. For larger herds "management" may become a full-time job. In a well-equipped milking parlor you can train a milking operator to do an effective job.

Advantages of loose housing are:

(1) More efficient milk production because of lower housing cost.

(2) Improved health resulting in a longer productive life for the herd.

(3) Labor saving building ideas combined with good management.

(4) A free and wholesome way of dairying for both man and cow.

Efficiency of Farmer Rises

The average farmer this year will produce enough food and fiber for himself and 25 others, 10 more than in 1950 and three times as many as in 1920. Farmers worked only 11.1 billion man-hours last year, down from 23.9 billion in 1920. The amount of crop land was almost unchanged from 1920.

Increases in efficiency stem from stepped-up use of machines and fertilizer, together with better seed, feed and methods. Farmers average 51 bushels of corn an acre, up from 38 in 1949. Per-acre yields for sorghum have tripled since 1939. An average hen lays twice as many eggs as in 1940. Beefier cattle provide more meat. The total number of dairy cows decreases, but the average cow produces 39 per cent more milk than in 1940.

With no increase in present acreage, total crop output would have to rise by 25 per cent by 1975 to feed an estimated 230 million Americans, government researchers say.

New Dairying Features Seen In Farm Tour

100 Turn Out for Calumet County Demonstration Day

Chilton—Approximately 100 dairy farmers from Calumet and surrounding counties Tuesday toured five exemplary northern Calumet county farms, featuring the latest in dairying, housing and feeding methods.

The tour, organized by Darold Drew, agent-at-large of the Calumet county extension office, began at Stebane's Garage, Forest Junction. Farmers were divided into three groups led by Drew, Orrin Meyer, county agent, and Charles Nikolai, 4-H club agent.

Inspected at the Leonard Schmidt farm, route 3, Kaukauna, were a herringbone milking parlor, silo unloader,

Transplants Require Water to Catch Hold

At the time of transplanting most everybody realizes that plants need water. Even if the soil is very moist it is still important to apply enough water to the soil around the roots (not sprinklings the plants themselves) to permit consolidation of the earth and roots, insuring close contact.

In warm weather, or when a drying wind is blowing, it is well worth while to come back the next day with a cup or two of water for each of the struggling new transplants.

silo unloader, bunk feeder and bulk cooler.

The center of attention at the Kampen Bros., farm, route 2, Hilbert, was a completely remodeled barn with a side opening milk parlor. Also utilized at the farm are a silo unloader, bunk feeder and bulk cooler.

Automation Seen

The beginnings of automation in farming was inspected at Alton Loefer's route 2, Hilbert farm. Loefer uses mechanical feeding methods, loose housing and a bunk feeder.

The tour was designed to show the farmers the advantages and disadvantages of the various types of loose and stall housing and milking parlors. Milking parlors of three different designs were examined, as were a similar number of housing variations.

Two State Congressmen Blast Raised Import Quotas on Cheese

pany, Inc., Green Bay; Lurity Cheese company, Mayville; Frigo Brothers cheese corporation, Lena; and National Cheese institute, Chicago. Also protesting any increase in cheese imports were Reps. Laird, Lester R. Johnson and William K. Van Pelt.

Report Filed
Congressman Byrnes previously had filed a protest with the secretary of agriculture against his recommendations that the quotas be increased. One of the many inconsistencies which Laird found in the majority report signed by four members of the commission was contained in this sentence "since competition between imported cheeses under consideration and their domestically produced counterparts is indirect, increased imports of these cheeses will be more likely to supplement than to displace domestic production."

He said it seemed contradictory for the commission to double the quota on Edam and Gouda cheese while at the same time state that "the increase in imports in 1960 over those in 1959 is expected to be considerably less than the maximum quota increases recommended."

Realistic View
He said that a much more realistic business-like view of the entire problem was set forth in the dissenting views of two members of the commission.

In commenting on the fact that import quotas on Edam and Gouda cheese and Italian-type cheeses are not being wholly filled, the minority report reads:

Moderate increases in imports could take place without any enlargement of quotas, but such increases presumably would not warrant the expense of promoting them. We must assume, therefore, that the foreign suppliers would, if quotas were enlarged, make every effort to fill them."

Larger Imports
The dissenting members of the commission predicted that "under greatly liberalized quotas, the United States could expect larger imports not only of cheeses that were somewhat higher priced than their American counterparts, but also of some that were lower priced, such as those that now enter from Argentina."

The dissenting members also further predicted that "adoption of the quotas recommended by the majority of the commission would be followed shortly by a request from the department of agriculture to conduct a section 22 investigation of such cheeses."

Fertilizer Use Below Normal

Fertilizer use on many crops is below the level that would be most profitable for most farmers.

Projected crop production needs can be met more economically through the use of more fertilizer and fewer acres than are represented by the present fertilizer-land use ratio.

Increased fertilizer use has played a major part in meeting production needs and lowering unit costs of production.

Most farmers who have adequate resources can improve their income substantially through higher rates of fertilizer application.

Farmers can do this because the cost of fertilizer is low relative to the cost of most other inputs; the return from an additional dollar spent for fertilizer at present rates of application on most crops, amounts to more than a dollar and more than the return obtained from many other inputs.

Most farmers who have adequate resources can improve their income substantially through higher rates of fertilizer application.

One part of the tariff commission's investigation which seemed to be given considerable attention concerned Dutch cheese manufacturers' dissatisfaction over their American markets.

"In the fall of 1958," the report reads, "the Dutch complained about the large increase in CCC surplus cheddar cheese entering into Puerto Rico. The free distribution of this cheese to needy families, they claimed, caused a substantial shrinkage in their market."

This program, however, of turning surplus cheddar cheese over to welfare institutions, and making it available for the school lunch program is established by law as a part of the dairy program.

The first Bowe wagons were built by Thomas Bowe, Sr., in 1929 and were manufactured by Thomas A. Bowe & Sons until 1946. At the present time Farm Wagons, Chopper Racks and Green Feeder Racks are manufactured extensively.

The Bowe Manufacturing company was incorporated in 1946. All of the issued stock is owned by members of the Bowe family. At a recent stockholders meeting it was unanimously decided to build a new modern building to allow us to fill customers orders more promptly and to be of better service. Another important factor in making the decision was that in the present year the demand for our self-unloading racks is tripled that of 1959. Our present buildings were not adequate to allow us to meet the demand.

Soybeans, Flax to Add To Income

ure in planting flax. Soil should be worked down well and seeds planted no less than an inch deep, Brickbrauer said.

Home grown seed can hurt a flax crop if it is dirty. Germination problems also are present, the specialist said. Any variety recommended by the university is good because of its disease resistance qualities, better starting and taller stalks.

Flax, however, is a poor competitor with weeds, Brickbrauer went on. He recommended treatment of fields with chemicals before and during growth.

Poor Competitors
Soybeans, too, are poor weed competitors. Brickbrauer made several recommendations for care of fields and crops. They were don't hill beans because seed pods will be too close to the ground, don't work up the field to much but work it enough so beans will not have to push through a crust, and use fertilizers to control weeds and grasshoppers.

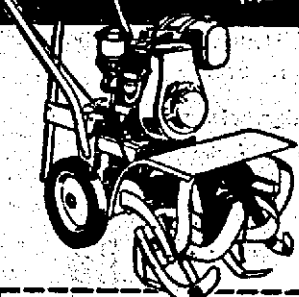

The specialist recommended soybean seeds placed 10 per foot. Productivity can be increased by narrowing row widths from 40 to 24 inches, he added. Every time a row is cut in width by six inches production is increased by a bushel, he went on.

Farmers complained of the difficulty in harvesting flax straw and combining the beans from both crops. The specialist said settings should be adjusted in machines and rollers used.

More Blooms Over Long Time Featured

For added color in your flower garden this summer, try some of the promising new varieties.

Larger flowers, a wider array of colors, more blooms over a longer period—these are in store for gardeners in some of the newcomers.

Here are a couple of this year's introductions:

Snapdragons of the rocket series are the first bred specifically for summer blooming. The new snaps tolerate hot summers and bloom during the long days. And they are available in six colors. All the Rocket varieties grow 3 feet tall and are strong and vigorous.

Mum Varieties

Red Rocket, with reddish stems and leaves, blooms before the other five — golden, bronze, orchid, rose and white. A double snap, Vanguard, stands almost as tall and flowers earlier than the Rocket.

For mum lovers who are looking for late fall bloomers big - flowered Headliner and Mardi Gras are recommended. The Headliner's 3 1/2 inch blooms are walnut coral and appear about Sept. 25. Mardi Gras is a splashy red and gold and lasts until the hard killing frosts. Pink Cherub is one of the newest of the tiny cushion-type button mums. The Cherub's little pompon flowers—purplish pink clusters—work well for cut sprays. Berninger says mums are one of the easiest and most convenient flowers to grow because they can be planted after the big spring rush.

Two marigold varieties are making their debut this spring. The big orange Toreador resembles a carnation, but is double. Gardeners will like Toreador's extra hybrid vigor and its uniformity and size—its flowers are about 4 inches across. For trimming flower beds with low borders, a dwarf marigold, Spun Gold, was developed. Spun Gold, open pollinated instead of hybrid, can be grown cheaply and sells very reasonably.

Each of these new flowers are All - America selections. This means they're recognized for their outstanding performance in gardens throughout the nation and will do a good job in Wisconsin.

Oat Deadline Coming Up Soon

The deadline for securing seed oats is coming up soon.

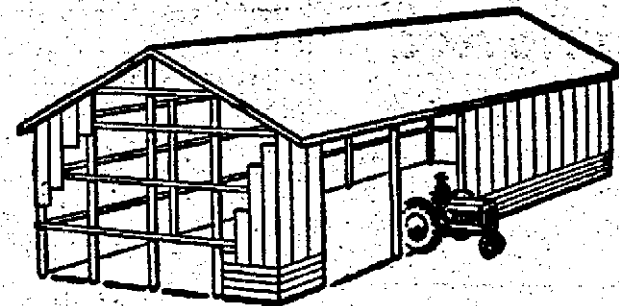

While certified seed oats is best, ordinary seed fills the bill, provided it measures up to the same high standards. Here are a few things to watch for when you select oats for seed:

Be sure the seed is tested for germination. Last year was a bad one for keeping seed viable. Wet conditions were hard on stored grain.

Make certain there aren't weed seeds and unclean material present in the seed supply. Dirt stops up drill holes and weeds compete with the young oat crop.

It's a good idea to get the seed into the ground as soon as possible after thawing to escape drought conditions and increase yields.

Other small grains, like spring wheat and barley, can be grown with success in Wisconsin.

Chilton Site Of State-Wide Weanling Sale

Two Associations Sponsoring Event Scheduled May 10

Chilton—Chilton will be host to a state-wide weanling pig sale May 10 at the Calumet Arena.

The sale is sponsored jointly by the Wisconsin Swine Breeders' association and the Calumet County Swine Breeders' association and will be in two parts. A donation sale to raise funds for the state group will be one phase of the event. Breeders throughout the state donate weanling pigs which are auctioned off with the proceeds retained by the association.

One of Two Sales

For the first time this year, the donation sale will be open to adult breeders or buyers. In former years it was restricted to 4-H and FFA groups.

The donation sale will be in conjunction with a weanling boar sale sponsored by the county association.

Consignment deadline for the donation sale is April 28.

Blights Can Kill Good Garden

Blights can beat you to your garden vegetables this summer. A few measures taken in time can keep tomatoes, potatoes and beans healthy.

Frequent spraying throughout the growing season will stop fungus blights on tomatoes and potatoes.

A clean-up program seems to be the only answer so far to bacterial blight on beans. Use disease-free seed and plant beans in three-year rotations with other vegetables. Remove the old bean plants from the garden area in the fall.

Beans infected with blight have large, brown spots on the leaves. Bean pods get

No cutoff date has been selected for local consigners to the boar sale. It may, however, correspond with the state deadline.

Leslie Schnell is the county sale chairman. Robert F. Thayer, Madison, secretary of the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' association, will act as sale manager.

On the committee are Roy Wenzel, Ross Hacker, Carl Peik and Darold Drew, county agent at large.

The sale will be one of two similar events in the state.

purplish, water-soaked spots that make them unfit for eating or selling.

Leaves on potatoes and tomatoes with early blight develop brown spots too. Water-soaked spots characterize late blight on both vegetables. Both diseases kill by gradually drying up the plant foliage. Tomato fruits and potato tubers are also attacked by the late blight fungus.

Three New Spinach Varieties Out for '60

Growers Will Like Plants Because of Disease Resistance and Leafy Nature

Three new spinach varieties have been developed by University of Wisconsin plant disease specialists, and will be available for planting late in 1960.

The new varieties are named Badger Savoy, Wisconsin Bloomsdale, and Savoy Supreme.

Spinach growers in Wisconsin and other northern areas will like the new varieties because they do not bolt or go to seed readily. This makes them especially good for spring planting. In large producing areas of the south, growers will like the new varieties because they resist a serious disease called blue mold.

Market Type

These are savoyed spinach—the kind with crinkled leaves, preferred for fresh market and home garden.

Badger Savoy resembles Virginia Savoy in growth rate and general habit. But it's darker green, more heavily savoyed and much more resistant to bolting. This variety stands erect and is very good for machine harvesting.

Wisconsin Bloomsdale is less erect than Badger Savoy, and it has an attractive sheen to the leaves. It is dark green, with medium savoy and good resistance to bolting.

Savoy Supreme grows more slowly than either of the others, but seems to have promise for many areas. It is very heavily savoyed, very dark green and very long-standing. Seed for retail seedsmen and commercial growers will not be available until the fall of 1960.

In the pedigrees of the new varieties are Viroflay, Savoy,

Disease Resistance

Source of the disease resistance for all three varieties is a type of spinach found in Iran some 20 years ago. Plants of the Iranian variety had rather poor commercial qualities. But they carried disease resistance, which the Wisconsin researchers were able to put into commercial types of spinach by years of crossing and selection.

The research men believe the new varieties resist bolting because plants for the breeding program were selected under Wisconsin conditions, where long summer days and hot summer weather forces seed production. Plants which bolted early were not selected for the breeding program, so the process favored development of plants which didn't bolt. This is a valuable characteristic for commercial use and for inclusion in future breeding programs.

Whitewater Doctor Named to Vet Board

Dr. Leonard Winn, Whitewater, has been named to the state board of veterinary examiners, according to Donald N. McDowell, director of the Wisconsin department of agriculture. Winn's appointment came on the recommendation of the Wisconsin Veterinary Medical Association.

Dr. Winn, a 1949 graduate of Kansas State university, practices in Whitewater. His appointment is for five years.

Value of Forests Doubles Dairying

One Fourth of State Employment In Timber, Conservationist Says

Wisconsin may be a dairy state but its timber resources in dollars and cents doubles the state's dairying, T. W. Blomquist, forest management supervisor with the Wisconsin conservation department, said in a talk to the Appleton Kiwanis club.

In addition to the value of forest products, one fourth of the state's employment depends upon forest products, he added. This includes sawlogs, veneer logs, poles and piling, recreational facilities and by-products such as maple syrup, nuts and Christmas trees.

The greatest problem facing the state today is the millions of acres under poor management, Blomquist said. There are 15,000,000 acres of the state in forest land. It is divided into state and county forests under good management, 3 million acres; federal forest under good management, 2 million acres; industrial forests under good management, 1 million acres and farmer and small woodlands under poor management, 9 million acres.

Blomquist cited the educational programs carried on by the state to improve poor woodlots and the establishment of county foresters to aid woodlot owners.

"Metals are a non-renewable resource," Blomquist said. "Forests are renewable when cut and reseeded."

By the year 2,000 demands for wood products will have increased 35 per cent for lumber, 160 per cent for pulp wood, 160 per cent for veneer logs and 50 per cent for other types of wood, he went on.

Because of this, "all types of ownership must be under good management," he said.

"The idea that a given unit of forestland can always have only one use is wrong," Blomquist said. "An acre of forestland can be used for tree farming, hunting and camping at the same time."

"The idea that it is wrong to cut a mature tree is anti-conservation," he said. "Some people would rather see a tree fall over and rot than see it supply a papermill or sawmill."

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS Farmers Ask Most About NEW FORD SELECT-O-SPEED TRACTORS

Is Select-O-Speed an automatic transmission?

No. With fully automatic transmissions, you have no control over when they will shift, since this is all done by a governor device. Obviously, this isn't very desirable for tractor use. Select-O-Speed lets you decide when to shift, then hydraulic power does the work of shifting for you.

Is Select-O-Speed a fluid drive transmission?

No. The built-in slippage which smooths out fluid coupled or torque converter transmissions is not a problem at cruising speeds of modern cars, but it's wasteful and impractical for tractors. The high torque and low engine speeds of grueling tractor operation causes a fluid coupling to heat up and slip excessively. And this, of course, results in costly loss of engine efficiency, in costly waste of fuel.

Then what is Select-O-Speed?

Select-O-Speed is a solid drive. Very simply, it is a mechanical system of gears which are always in mesh. There are four planetary gearsets and several bands and clutch packs. These are hydraulically operated to change the power flow to give you 10 forward and 2 reverse speeds.

Are planetary systems something new?

No, but this system combining hydraulic shifting with mechanical gears is new in the farm tractor field — in fact, it is the first major breakthrough in tractor transmission design in many years. But planetary transmissions have proved themselves in more than 15 million Model T Fords. And they're still adding to that proof today by providing top efficiency in transmissions for heavy-duty military vehicles, heavy earthmovers, trucks and all automatic transmissions in cars.

What happens when I move the selector lever?

Your selector lever opens and closes hydraulic valves which send oil pressure to do the work you formerly did with a stick shift and a foot- or hand-operated clutch.

How long does this hydraulic shifting take?

Just a split-second. One-eighth to one-fifth of a second. This time varies a bit according to whether you're shifting within a power range or from one range to another.

How many working ranges are there?

Three, aside from the two reverse speeds. First through 4th gears give you a low range with 6 to 2.5 m.p.h. ground speed, depending upon engine r.p.m. Fifth through 8th gears is the field range with speeds from 2.1 to 7.5 m.p.h. And your road or transport speeds — 6.7 to 18 m.p.h. — are 9th and 10th gears.

Won't I "feel" the power changes when I change gears?

Yes, since Select-O-Speed is a solid, all-gear drive, you'll naturally feel the power change during the split-second interval of hydraulic shifting. With rolling loads like wagons or balers, the shift pause is less noticeable than with heavy draft loads like plowing or discing. And as mentioned before, the change in speed is more noticeable in shifting from range to range — 4th gear to 5th, for instance. This is because more hydraulic action is required and the changes in gear ratios are greater between ranges than within any range.

Couldn't you engineer a transmission without this shift pause?

Yes, but this would involve using a fluid coupling with the slippage and loss of efficiency mentioned earlier. Ford engineers feel Select-O-Speed's savings in time, fuel and effort far outweigh the slight pause experienced in on-the-go shifting. And remember, that split-second shift pause replaces a complete cycle of clutching, stopping and stick-shifting!

Shouldn't I just "ease" the shift lever from one gear to another?

No, absolutely not. On other tractors, you move the shift stick slowly to prevent clashing of gears. It's just the opposite with Select-O-Speed. Snap the lever quickly from one speed to another, the quicker the better. You can't clash gears in Select-O-Speed's constant mesh transmission, and this quick snap shortens the shift interval. It gets you into the new gear faster and smoother.

Exactly when should I shift?

Every time the work load changes. Your greater savings in time, fuel and effort with Select-O-Speed come from the ability to operate at the most efficient engine r.p.m., using on-the-go shifting to maintain the desired ground speed.

Wouldn't I be just as well off if I could lug through tough spots?

Engine lugging power is important with old style transmissions. Nobody wants to waste time with frequent stops for clutching and shifting. But lugging is hard on engines... places severe strains on engine parts, causes faster wear. With Select-O-Speed you don't need to lug your engine. A twist of the wrist gives you a lower gear without stopping. And you save with longer tractor life, less maintenance, lower fuel costs.

Why do we have an inching pedal?

It's a valuable convenience feature. You could operate Select-O-Speed without it, give your left leg a free tractor ride, but you wouldn't want to. The inching pedal lets you make smoother, more gradual starts. It gives you pinpoint tractor control for maneuvering and hooking up instruments. And it's also an emergency stop control. For years you have pushed down on a clutch pedal for fast stops. Ford's inching pedal lets you do the same thing.

What do you mean by independent power take-off?

Ford's power take-off is driven directly from the engine by separate gears. It's completely independent of the transmission. You can start or stop or shift to any gear while PTO keeps running. Steady PTO power is important, but often you need more wheel power or faster ground speed. You merely flip Select-O-Speed into another gear on-the-go to match ground speed to implement capacity. There's no power interruption so you may even save the cost of an auxiliary engine. And only Select-O-Speed has 6 ground speeds of 4 m.p.h. or less!

What's the advantage of engaging PTO on the go?

On-the-go engaging lets you turn faster and shorter, and without unnecessary wear on your harvesting equipment. Only with Ford can you power-engage! It's easy. When you come to the end of a row, just push the handy T-handle on the dash to stop PTO. As you re-enter the field, shift to working speed and use the T-handle to feather PTO back into operation — no clutching or stopping.

What is the PTO speed?

Select-O-Speed tractors come in two different PTO options: (1) with current ASAE standard 540 r.p.m. PTO; (2) with two-speed PTO, plus ground drive PTO. The latter gives you choice of 540 r.p.m. or recently approved ASAE standard 1000 r.p.m. simply by moving a lever. Ground drive PTO provides a power take-off speed in direct ratio to the rate of travel, regardless of engine speed.

Shift to any speed on the go!

Milking Setups in Barns Reflect Wide Variance

Oshkosh — Various types of 300 persons at an open house milking arrangements have been the subject of farm tours organized during the winter months by the county agent's office. Examples were milking parlors, pipeline milker and loose housing.

The Glen Steinke farm at Eureka was an example of an entirely new setup along that line while Ed Brooks at Omro showed a remodeled parlor and loose housing. Vernice Anderson at Winneconne had

The Winnebago county hospital farm is in the process of developing a milking parlor and pipeline milking but with some arrangements whereby the milking herd may be kept in the conventional stanchion barn or on the concreted barn yard with access to the parlor from either or both places.

Stanchion Type

Those who prefer the conventional stanchion type stall, remodeled to accommodate the larger cow of today's dairy breeds can find this at the Gordon Raddatz farm in the town of Black Wolf. Another popular combination is farms with some tie stalls, often called comfort stalls. Phil Moon, town of Algoma, has such stalls while his brother Warren, on a nearby farm, has remodeled with some comfort stalls and some stanchions.

William Herrmann, Mikesville, also held open house to show his pipeline and cows in stanchion arrangement.

Loose Housing

Loose housing specifications are set up by a state-wide research committee of dairy and health specialists. For the bedded area, at least 75 square feet of floor space is needed for each cow. This does not include the area needed to store bedding on the ground level.

Feed and water for the cows cannot be in the bedded area nor may the bedded area be used as a holding area for unmilked cows before they enter the milking room. At least 75 square feet of paved yard also should be provided for each cow. This does not include the paved area next to the feed bunks.

The paved yard should be arranged so cows can be kept on it during unfavorable yard conditions. A portion of the holding area for unmilked cows must be roofed over. Specifications for the loose housing and plans for the stall type barns may be secured through the county agent's office.

28 Million Acres Slated for Bank

Madison — Thomas A. Hamilton, administrator of the federal soil bank program, said about 28 million acres of cropland will be taken out of production and banked this year. This compares with about 22,400,000 acres in the plan in 1959.

Hamilton, a native of Westfield, Wis., talked at the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders association.

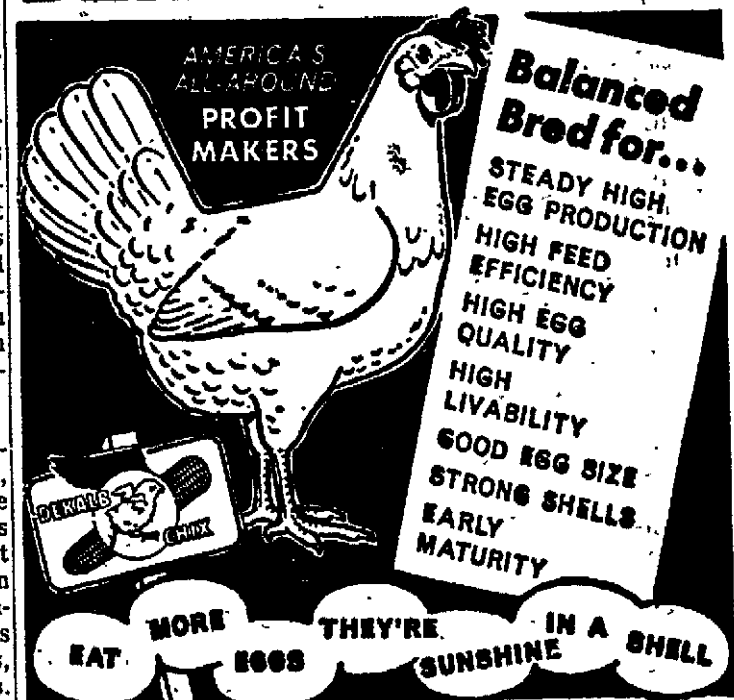

The soil bank plan, Hamilton said, has encouraged sizeable acreage cuts in two marginal areas. He said former cotton fields in the southeast are being planted to trees and great plains wheat fields are being returned to prairie grass.

Old Plants Not Only Ones Needing Pruning

Pruning is not something you do only to old plants. Any plant that grows out of normal proportion should be brought back into line by pruning, and this applies to seedlings, too.

If the plants in your seed flats have to wait a bit longer than anticipated, or if they get leggy because of insufficient light, just nip out the growing point at the top. This will prevent further immediate upward growth and encourage the formation of a bushy, well proportioned plant.

Spring Cleaning Carries Into Strawberry Beds

Care Given Plants Now Determines Largely Success of Crop Later on

BY ORIN W. MEYER
Calumet County Agent

Spring clean up also carries over into the strawberry beds at this time of year. Care given to these small fruits now determines, to a large extent, the kind of a crop that will be harvested later on. Care given at this time of year likewise has a bearing on how plants will go into the winter this fall and what one might expect next year.

If strawberries were covered last fall, the cover should now be removed. Raking it to the side of the row will provide an excellent mulch as well as keep weeds down. Leaving the mulch at the side of the row likewise makes for easier picking and cleaner berries. Just as the first blossoms buds appear in spring, the strawberries should be sprayed. Spittle bugs, plant bugs, red spider and leaf roller are insects that attack strawberries. Many cat-faced or deformed berries are the result of the work of the plant bugs. Leaf spot, fruit rot, red stele and virus are common diseases of strawberries.

To control most of these pests and diseases use: two tablespoons of a 50 per cent methoxychlor wettable powder, two tablespoons 25 per cent malathion wettable powder plus one of the following fungicides: four tablespoons of 50 per cent Captan, or four tablespoons 65 per cent Zineb, or four tablespoons 76 per cent Ferbam in 1 gallon of water. The above spray should be applied every seven days until the first berries start to form. One should avoid applying a spray however when the berries, (and this goes for all fruits) are in bloom.

Narrow Rows

After the crop has been harvested, strawberry rows should be narrowed to about eight inches by cultivating or hoeing. Plants may also be thinned out in the row. Six to eight pounds of a complete fertilizer such as 10-10-10 per 100 feet of row may be applied over the row. The planting should be kept free of weeds either by cultivating or by chemicals.

Strawberries are usually not hardy enough to tolerate the winter and so mulching for winter protection is desirable. Rows should be covered with weed seed-free marsh hay or straw. Enough should be applied to provide a mulch two to three inches deep after it has settled.

In setting out new strawberry plantings, first of all select a site free of weeds with a loam soil that tends to be on the sandy side. If manure is not available, thoroughly work 10 to 15 pounds per thousand square feet of a complete fertilizer such as 10-10-10 into the soil.

Best Varieties

Varieties for June bearing recommended for the local area are Wisconsin 214, Wisconsin 537, Sparkle, Premier, Catskill, Beaver and Robinson. Premier is the earliest. Sparkle, Wisconsin 537 and Catskill are most desirable for quick freezing. Everbearing varieties include Gem, Superfection and Mastodon. Buy your plants from a reliable source to be sure they are true to name and virus free.

Early spring planting is best in this area. Plants may be set 24 inches apart in the row and the rows should be at least 42 inches apart. Plants are properly set when the soil covers the base of the crown but does not actually cover the crown. Pinch off blossoms the first year. This stimulates more runner development.

Spray Data

Questions are frequently asked about controlling weeds with chemicals. This works well if used correctly for specific weeds. Chemicals applied to strawberries infested with thistles and quack grass will not produce results. Chemical weed control is best used to kill weeds as they germinate from the seed. Sesone (Crag Herbicide) gives good results. To be most effective, however, the planting must be free of weeds just before applying. The first spray should be applied two to three weeks after planting and the second spray about four weeks after the first one.

To make a spray mixture to cover 2,500 square feet, dissolve a heaping cup of Sesone in five to 10 gallons of water and spray the mixture evenly over the area. The weed spray should not be applied during the bloom period. Be extremely careful to clean the sprayer after use. A small amount of the weak chemical adhering to the inside of the sprayer may affect plants such as tomatoes which might be sprayed for insect and disease control later on.
